1 (a) If a law-enforcement officer determines under subsection (b) or (c) of this section that 2 there is probable cause to believe a valid Canadian domestic violence protective order exists and 3 the order has been violated, the officer shall enforce the terms of the Canadian domestic violence
4 protective order as if the terms were in an order of a court. Presentation to a law-enforcement
5 officer of a certified copy of a Canadian domestic violence protective order is not required for 6 enforcement.

7 (b) Presentation to a law-enforcement officer of a record of a Canadian domestic violence 8 protective order that identifies both a protected individual and a respondent and on its face is in 9 effect constitutes probable cause to believe that a valid order exists.

10 (c) If a record of a Canadian domestic violence protective order is not presented as 11 provided in subsection (b) of this section, a law-enforcement officer may consider other 12 information in determining whether there is probable cause to believe that a valid Canadian 13 domestic-violence protective order exists.

14 (d) If a law enforcement officer determines that an otherwise valid Canadian domestic 15 violence protective order cannot be enforced because the respondent has not been notified of or 16 served with the order, the officer shall notify the protected individual that the officer will make 17 reasonable efforts to contact the respondent, consistent with the safety of the protected individual.
18 After notice to the protected individual and consistent with the safety of the individual, the officer 19 shall make a reasonable effort to inform the respondent of the order, notify the respondent of the 20 terms of the order, provide a record of the order, if available, to the respondent, and allow the 21 respondent a reasonable opportunity to comply with the order before the officer enforces the 22 order.

23 (e) If a law enforcement officer determines that an individual is a protected individual, the 24 officer shall inform the individual of available local victim services.

§48-28B-4. Enforcement of Canadian Domestic Violence Protective Order by Court

1 (a) A court may issue an order enforcing or refusing to enforce a Canadian domestic 2 violence protective order on application of a:

3 (1) Person authorized by law of this state, other than this act, to seek enforcement of a 4 domestic violence protective order; or

5 (2) Respondent.

6 (b) In a proceeding under subsection (a) of this section, the court shall follow the 7 procedures of this state for enforcement of a domestic violence protective order as contained in

8 the West Virginia Rules of Practice and Procedure for Domestic Violence. An order entered under 9 this section is limited to the enforcement of the terms of the Canadian domestic violence protective 10 order as defined in §48-28B-2 of this code.

12 (1) The order identifies a protected individual and a respondent;

14 (3) The issuing court had jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter under law
15 applicable in the issuing court;

16 (4) The order was issued on a basis for which a domestic violence protective order would 17 be issued in this state for conduct that would constitute domestic violence under this code; and

18 (5) The order was issued after:

20 before the court issued the order; or

21 (B) In the case of an ex parte order, the respondent was given reasonable notice and had 22 or will have an opportunity to be heard within a reasonable time after the order was issued, in a 23 manner consistent with the right of the respondent to due process.

24 (d) A Canadian domestic violence protective order valid on its face is prima facie evidence 25 of its enforceability under this article.

26 (e) A claim that a Canadian domestic violence protective order does not comply with 27 subsection (c) of this section is an affirmative defense in a proceeding seeking enforcement of 28 the order. If the court determines that the order is not enforceable, the court shall issue an order 29 that the Canadian domestic violence protective order is not enforceable under this section, and 30 §48-28B-3 of this code, and may not be registered pursuant to the requirements of §48-28B-5 of 31 this code.

32 (f) This section applies to enforcement of a provision of a Canadian domestic violence 33 protective order against a party to the order in which each party is a protected individual and

35 (1) The party seeking enforcement of the order filed a pleading requesting the order from 36 the issuing court; and

37 (2) The court made specific findings that entitled the party to the enforcement sought.

4 (b) An individual registering a Canadian domestic violence protective order shall file an 5 affidavit by the protected individual stating that, to the best of the protected individual's knowledge, 6 the order is currently in effect.

7 (c) Upon receipt of a Canadian domestic violence protective order for registration, the 8 West Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals shall:

10 (2) Furnish to the individual registering the order a copy of the proof of registration of the 11 order.

12 (d) A registered Canadian domestic violence protective order that is shown to be 13 inaccurate or not currently in effect shall be corrected or removed from the registry.

14 (e) A Canadian domestic violence protective order registered under this article may be 15 entered in any existing state or federal registry of protection orders in accordance with applicable 16 law.

17 (f) A fee may not be charged for the registration of a Canadian domestic violence 18 protective order.
