Foreword

For the indispensable help of the County Clerks, City officials, Heads of State Departments and the various other contributors who have helped make this Volume 33 of the West Virginia Blue Book possible, I wish to express my most sincere thanks.

In the belief that by retaining the makeup of the book as in former years its general usefulness will be enhanced; no extreme change has been made. It is usually more convenient to the users to find the same information in the same place.

A "Comparison of Revenues and Expenditures," as prepared by the Director of the Budget, is included in this issue and should be of considerable interest to its users. A mileage map of the State as prepared by the State Road Commissioner is also contained in this 1949 Blue Book.

It is the compiler's wish that the 1949 Blue Book will compare favorably with those editions prepared in former years, and that it will be of real value to the people who use it. All my efforts have been directed toward that end.

The Department of Public Safety is a state police department with state-wide general police power, created in 1919 to preserve the peace, protect life and property, prevent crime and apprehend criminals. With at least one detachment in each county and a large fleet of two-way radio equipped vehicles, the state police handle a large share of the investigation of major crime and apprehension of dangerous criminals, and take primary responsibility for patrolling the highways, enforcing the traffic laws and preventing motor vehicle accidents, besides many miscellaneous services in the public interest, including duty at the scene of emergencies, riots or disasters.

The Board of Commissioners hears charges filed against any officer or member of the department, including the Superintendent, or appeals of charges filed against officers or members with the Superintendent if the Superintendent fails to suspend or dismiss any officer or member after such charges are filed.

The Retirement Board has power to make, revise and terminate awards from the Department Death, Disability and Retirement Fund to retired or disabled members, or to beneficiaries of deceased members.

Section Four

CONSTITUTIONAL

Declaration of Independence

United States Constitution

Constitution of West Virginia

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

MADE BY THE ORIGINAL THIRTEEN STATES IN CONGRESS
AT PHILADELPHIA

UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED JULY 4, 1776

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the Powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security.—Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these States. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing, with manly firmness, his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused, for a long time after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the State remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of and superior to the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes without our consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies:

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our government:

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is, at this time, transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun, with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow-citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every state of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms: our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injuries. A prince, whose character, is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attention to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in general Congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name, and by authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States: that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as free and independent States, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent States may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

And such parts of the said beds, banks and shores as lie opposite, and adjoining the several counties of this State, shall form parts of said several counties respectively.

[All of the territory of West Virginia was taken from the Commonwealth of Virginia and in the first constitution forty-four of the above named counties were designated as forming the State of West Virginia, and in addition the counties of Berkeley, Hampshire, Hardy, Jefferson, Morgan and Pendleton were to be admitted should the constitution be adopted by a vote of the people of the districts comprising the counties. The districts adopted the constitution and these six counties became a part of the State.

The remaining five counties were created by acts of the legislature as follows: Mineral County, from Hampshire County, on February 1, 1866; Grant County, from Hardy County, on February 14, 1866; Lincoln County, from parts of Cabell, Putnam, Kanawha and Boone Counties, on February 23, 1867; Summers County, from parts of Greenbrier, Monroe, Mercer and Favette Counties, on February 27, 1871; and Mingo County, from Logan County, on February 23, 1895.]

2. The Senate shall be composed of twenty-four, and the House of Delegates of sixty-five members subject to be increased according to the provisions hereinafter contained.

[The Senate is now composed of thirty-two, and the House of Delegates of ninety-four members.]

Senators and Delegates—Terms of Office

3. Senators shall be elected for the term of four years, and Delegates for the term of two years. The Senators first elected shall divide themselves into two classes, one Senator from every district being assigned to each class; and of these classes, the first to be designated by lot in such manner as the Senate may determine, shall hold their seats for two years, and the second for four years, so that after the first election, one-half of the Senators shall be elected biennially.

Division of State Into Senatorial Districts

4. For the election of Senators, the State shall be divided into twelve Senatorial districts which number shall not be diminished, but may be increased as hereinafter provided. Every district shall elect two Senators, but where the district is composed of more than one county, both shall not be chosen from the same county. The districts shall be compact formed of contiguous territory, bounded by county lines, and, as nearly as practicable, equal in population, to be ascertained by the census of the United States. After every such census, the Legislature shall alter the Senatorial Districts, so far as may be necessary to make them conform to the foregoing provision.

[There are now sixteen senatorial districts, as provided by Acts of 1937, Ch. 128.]

Senatorial Districts Designated

5. Until the Senatorial Districts shall be altered by the Legislature as herein prescribed, the counties of Hancock, Brooke and Ohio, shall constitute the first Senatorial District; Marshall, Wetzel and Marion, the second; Ritchie, Doddridge, Harrison, Gilmer and Calhoun, the third; Tyler, Pleasants, Wood and Wirt, the fourth; Jackson, Mason, Putnam and Roane, the fifth; Kanawha, Clay, Nicholas, Braxton and Webster, the sixth; Cabell, Wayne, Lincoln, Boone, Logan, Wyoming, McDowell and Mercer, the seventh; Monroe, Greenbrier, Summers, Pocahontas, Fayette and Raleigh, the eighth; Lewis, Randolph, Upshur, Barbour, Taylor and Tucker, the ninth; Preston and Monongalia, the tenth; Hampshire, Mineral, Hardy, Grant and Pendleton, the eleventh; Berkeley, Morgan and Jefferson, the twelfth.

[By the provisions of the reapportionment act of 1937 (Acts 1937, Ch. 128) the number of senatorial districts was increased to sixteen, the number of senators to thirty-two, and the counties rearranged in the various districts.]

Provisions for Delegate Representation

6. For the election of Delegates, every county containing a population of less than three-fifths of the ratio of representation for the House of Delegates, shall at each apportionment, be attached to some contiguous county or counties, to form a Delegate District.

[By the provisions of the Acts of 1901, Ch. 10, the House of Delegates consisted of eighty-six members, each county having at least one member. Since the general election of 1916, the House of Delegates has consisted of ninety-four members, each county having at least one member. See Ch. 30, p. 270, Acts 1915, Regular Session.]

Delegate Apportionment After Census

7. After every census the Delegates shall be apportioned as follows: The ratio of representation for the House of Delegates shall be ascertained by dividing the whole population of the State by the number of which the House is to consist and rejecting the fraction of a unit, if any, resulting from such division. Dividing the population of every Delegate District, and of every county not included in a Delegate District, by the ratio thus ascertained, there shall be assigned to each a number of Delegates equal to the quotient obtained by this division, excluding the fractional remainder. The additional Delegates necessary to make up the number of which the House is to consist, shall then be assigned to those Delegate Districts, and counties not included in a Delegate District, which would otherwise have the largest fractions unrepresented; but every Delegate District and county not included in a Delegate District shall be entitled to at least one Delegate.

Designation of Delegate Districts

8. Until a new apportionment shall be declared, the counties of Pleasants and Wood shall form the first Delegate District, and elect three Delegates; Ritchie and Calhoun the second, and elect two Delegates; Barbour, Harrison and Taylor the third, and elect one Delegate; Randolph and Tucker the fourth, and elect one Delegate; Nicholas, Clay and Webster the fifth, and elect one Delegate; McDowell and Wyoming the sixth, and elect one Delegate.

[There are now no delegate districts, each county having at least one member.]

Further Apportionments

9. Until a new apportionment shall be declared, the apportionment of Delegates to the counties not included in Delegate Districts, and to Barbour, Harrison and Taylor counties, embraced in such districts, shall be as follows:

To Barbour, Boone, Braxton, Brooke, Cabell, Doddridge, Fayette, Hampshire, Hancock, Jackson, Lewis, Logan, Greenbrier, Monroe, Mercer, Mineral, Morgan, Grant, Hardy, Lincoln, Pendleton, Putnam, Roane, Gilmer, Taylor, Tyler, Upshur, Wayne, Wetzel, Wirt, Pocahontas, Summers and Raleigh counties, one Delegate each.

To Berkeley, Harrison, Jefferson, Marion, Marshall, Mason, Monongalia and Preston counties, two Delegates each.

To Kanawha County, three Delegates.

To Ohio County, four Delegates.

[Many changes have been made in this apportionment. Kanawha County, the largest in population, now has eight Delegates.]

Arrangement of Senatorial and Delegate Districts

10. The arrangement of the Senatorial and Delegate Districts, and apportionment of Delegates, shall hereafter be declared by law, as soon as possible after each succeeding census, taken by authority of the United States. When so declared they shall apply to the first general election for members of the Legislature, to be thereafter held, and shall continue in force unchanged, until such Districts shall be altered, and Delegates apportioned, under the succeeding census.

On reassembling of the Legislature, no bills shall be introduced in either house without a vote of three-fourths of all the members elected to each house taken by yeas and nays. But such imprisonment shall not extend beyond the termination of the session and shall not prevent the punishment of any offense, by the ordinary course of law.

Accounting for State Monies

27. Laws shall be enacted and enforced, by suitable provisions and penalties, requiring sheriffs, and all other officers, whether State, county, district or municipal, who shall collect or receive, or whose official duty it is or shall be to collect, receive, hold or pay out any money belonging to, or which is, or shall be, for the use of the State or of any county, district, or municipal corporation, to make annual account and settlement therefor. Such settlement, when made, shall be subject to exceptions, and take such direction, and have only such force and effect, as may be provided by law; but in all cases such settlement shall be recorded, and be open to the examination of the people at such convenient place or places as may be appointed by law.

“Majority” Defined

32. Whenever the words, “a majority of the members elected to either House of the Legislature,” or words of like import, are used in this Constitution, they shall be construed to mean a majority of the whole number of members to which each house is, at the time, entitled, under the apportionment of representation, established by the provisions of this Constitution.

The only change made in section 33 was to strike out the words "four dollars per day" and insert "five hundred dollars per annum." (1) Every such appropriation shall be embodied in a separate bill limited to some single work, object or purpose therein stated and called herein a supplementary appropriation bill; (2) each supplementary appropriation bill shall provide the revenue necessary to pay the appropriation thereby made by a tax direct or indirect, to be laid and collected as shall be directed in said bill unless it appears from such budget that there is sufficient revenue available; (3) no supplementary appropriation bill shall become a law unless it be passed in each House by a vote of a majority of the members present, and the yeas and nays recorded on its final passage. Each supplementary appropriation bill shall be presented to the Governor of the State as provided in section fourteen of article seven of the Constitution and thereafter all the provisions of said section shall apply.

Nothing in this amendment shall be construed as preventing the Legislature from passing in time of war an appropriation bill to provide for the payment of any obligation of the State of West Virginia within the protection of section ten of article one of the Constitution of the United States.

Sub-Section D—General Provisions

First: If the "Budget Bill" shall not have been finally acted upon by the Legislature three days before the expiration of its regular session, the Governor may, and it shall be his duty to issue a proclamation extending the session for such further period as may, in his judgment, be necessary for the passage of such bill; but no other matter than such bill shall be considered during such extended session except a provision for the cost thereof.

Third: The Legislature may, from time to time, enact such laws, not inconsistent with this section, as may be necessary and proper to carry out its provisions.

Fourth: In the event of any inconsistency between any of the provisions of this section and any of the other provisions of the Constitution, except amendments thereto heretofore made and ratified by the people, the provisions of this section shall prevail. But nothing herein shall be construed as preventing the Governor from calling extraordinary sessions of the Legislature, as provided by section seven of article seven, or as preventing the Legislature at such extraordinary sessions from considering any emergency appropriation or appropriations.

If any item of any appropriation bill passed under the provisions of this section shall be held invalid upon any ground, such invalidity shall not affect the legality of the bill or of any other item of such bill or bills.

Revenue from gasoline and other motor fuel excise and license taxation, motor vehicle registration and license taxes, and all other revenue derived from motor vehicles or motor fuels shall, after the deduction of statutory refunds and cost of administration and collection authorized by legislative appropriation, be appropriated and used solely for construction, reconstruction, repair and maintenance of public highways, and also the payment of the interest and principal on all road bonds heretofore issued or which may be hereafter issued for the construction, reconstruction or improvement of public highways, and the payment of obligations incurred in the construction, reconstruction, repair and maintenance of public highways.

But any tax measured by valuation shall not exceed the aggregate rates authorized by section one of article ten of this Constitution.

8. The Governor shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, (a majority of all the Senators elected concurring by yeas and nays) appoint all officers whose offices are established by this Constitution, or shall be created by law, and whose appointment or election is not otherwise provided for, and no such officer shall be appointed or elected by the Legislature.

9. In case of a vacancy, during the recess of the Senate, in any office which is not elective, the Governor shall, by appointment, fill such vacancy, until the next meeting of the Senate, when he shall make a nomination for such office, and the person so nominated, when confirmed by the Senate (a majority of all the Senators elected concurring by yeas and nays) shall hold his office during the remainder of the term, and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified. No person, after being rejected by the Senate, shall be again nominated for the same office, during the same session, unless at the request of the Senate; nor shall such person be appointed to the same office during the recess of the Senate.

14. Every bill passed by the Legislature shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the Governor. If he approve, he shall sign it, and thereupon it shall become a law; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the House in which it originated, which House shall enter the objections at large upon its journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, a majority of the members elected to that House agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by a majority of the members elected to that House, it shall become a law, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor. But in all such cases, the vote of each House shall be determined by yeas and nays to be entered on the journal. Any bill which shall not be returned by the Governor within five days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Legislature shall, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall be filed with his objections in the office of the Secretary of State within five days after such adjournment, or become a law.

there is no one to act as Governor, one shall be chosen by joint vote of the Legislature. Whenever a vacancy shall occur in the office of Governor before the first three years of the term shall have expired, a new election for Governor shall take place to fill the vacancy.

Vacancies in Other Executive Departments

17. If the office of Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, State Superintendent of Free Schools, or Attorney General, shall become vacant by death, resignation, or otherwise, it shall be the duty of the Governor to fill the same by appointment, and the appointee shall hold his office until his successor shall be elected and qualified in such manner as may be prescribed by law. The subordinate officers of the executive department and the officers of all public institutions of the State shall keep an account of all monies received or disbursed by a semi-annual report thereof to the Governor under oath or affirmation; and any officer who shall wilfully make a false report shall be deemed guilty of perjury.

[The amendment to this section was proposed by House Joint Resolution of February 15, 1901 (Acts 1901, p. 460) and ratified at the general election in 1902. [This section, prior to amendment, read as follows: "The Governor shall receive for his services a salary of twenty-seven hundred dollars per annum and no additional emolument, allowance or perquisite shall be paid or made to him, on any account. WEST VIRGINIA CHILDREN'S HOME

Elkins

Superintendent: Dee B. Gainer. Financial Secretary: Myrtle C. Gainer. Inmates: 80.

The West Virginia Children's Home is located in Elkins. It was established by an act of the Legislature in 1899, and formally opened in 1911, to serve as a Home for orphan and neglected boys and girls. In 1935 an appropriation was allotted for an additional unit. The site upon which the two-story brick building is located, contains a 20-acre tract of ground facing Heavner Avenue. In addition to the ground site for the Home, there is a 127-acre farm used for grazing. A modern dairy barn and chicken houses are located on the Home site and a two-room school building with two teachers, one of whom is the principal, is operated on the County Unit plan. The purpose of the Home is to keep, train, educate and maintain the children between the ages of six to fourteen years, until they can be placed in foster homes. Religious training is provided, and every boy and girl who can do anything is given some job in the Home or on the farm. The sanitary conditions of the Home are excellent and the health of the children is very good. All meats, milk, poultry products and our summer vegetables are raised on the Home site and farm.

WEST VIRGINIA COLORED CHILDREN'S HOME

Huntington

Superintendent: Roy W. Edwards. Financial Secretary: Arminta M. Miller. Inmates: 40.

West Virginia Colored Children's Home, located in the City of Huntington, was incorporated in 1900 as West Virginia Normal and Industrial School for Colored Orphans. Purchased by the State in 1911, at which time the name was changed to West Virginia Colored Orphan's Home. For some years the institution was supported by private contributions raised by the general manager and friends and by income from the boarding hall and farm. In 1903 the Legislature made a yearly appropriation of $1,500 and in 1910 this was raised to $3,000. The purpose of this institution is to provide for Negro orphans and neglected children under the age of 16 and such other children of like age that may be surrendered by their parents in case the latter be invalid, to be kept, maintained, educated and trained until they can be placed in foster homes. The operating program of this institution provides for the total development of the total child to effective citizenship. Provisions have been made for children in the institution completing high school work to attend West Virginia State College or Bluefield State College.

WEST VIRGINIA HOME FOR AGED AND INFIRM COLORED MEN AND WOMEN

McKendree

Superintendent: George W. Coats. Financial Secretary: Rosetta H. Reed.

The West Virginia Home for Aged and Infirm Colored Men and Women was established in Charleston by an Act of the Legislature in 1923. In December 1928, the institution was moved to Huntington where it remained for several years. The over-crowded and generally run-down condition of the premises then made it necessary to seek other quarters. On September 13, 1941 the institution was moved to McKendree and is now occupying the building and grounds of the formerly operated McKendree Hospital. McKendree is located in Fayette County on the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, fifteen miles from Beckley and three miles from Prince, West Virginia.

The institution consists of the main building which houses the offices, treatment room, dental clinic, chapel for religious services, laundry and other hospital facilities for the patients and inmates. Another two-story building furnishes living quarters for the superintendent and family and women employees. A two-story farm house which has housing facilities for the farmer and family also houses the men employees. A modern chicken and brooder house is also a part of the farming equipment.

The institution at present houses 82 inmates; 42 males and 40 females. There are accommodations for 90 inmates.

The positions for the Home include superintendent, secretary, physician, dentist, nurse, matron, chef and two assistants, orderly, one day attendant, two night attendants and three others who attend the general duties of caring for the farm and building and grounds.

WEST VIRGINIA TRAINING SCHOOL

St. Marys

Acting Superintendent: Harry R. Riggs. Inmates: 125.

West Virginia Training School, located three miles north of St. Marys, on State Route 2, was established in 1921 by an act of the Legislature. The farm contains 694 acres and is an ideal location for the institution. The purpose of the institution is the treatment, training and readjustment of mentally defective children. Because of the limited capacity of the institution, admissions are restricted to boys and girls between the ages of 7 and 14, inclusive.

The large mansion, formerly occupied by the girls, was completely destroyed by fire on March 1, 1949, and it was necessary to move the girls into the main brick unit. Construction of a new unit is under way which will house approximately 250 patients. This building will relieve the overcrowded conditions which now exist.

CORRECTIONAL

WEST VIRGINIA INDUSTRIAL HOME FOR GIRLS

Industrial

Superintendent: Mrs. Alma Straight Weinberg. Financial Secretary: Mrs. Corinne Whiting. Enrollment: 170. Capacity: 200.

West Virginia Industrial Home for Girls is located two miles west of Salem, on U. S. Route 50, and is served by the main line of the B&O Railroad, also by the Greyhound Bus and W. Va. Transportation Bus.

It was established by an act of the Legislature on February 18, 1897, and formally opened May 5, 1899. It is built on a 73 acre tract, of which 38 acres were donated by the citizens of Salem in 1897. From Jones Cottage, the first building, the plant has grown to include the following: McCullough Cottage, built in 1905; Silver Hall, opened in 1914; Sutton Cottage, opened in 1928; Ava Stanard Dormitory, built in 1942. The Administration Building, also built in 1942, includes offices and visiting rooms on the first floor. Living quarters for the Superintendent and Financial Secretary, together with a guest suite, comprise the second floor. The plant also includes Lakin School Building.

Girls in the Home receive standard elementary and accredited first class high school training, religious and vocational education. To date 159 girls have been graduated from high school and 334 from 8th grade. Among courses offered are commercial work, dressmaking, art, music, journalism, home economics, physical education, and library science. All state requirements are met. The library and magazines are used by the entire school. The school contains a very complete Home Economics Practice Kitchen and Dining Room. A full time Recreation Director is employed. The Home has its own Clinic. The girls receive domestic training in the cottages.

Funds have been allocated by the 1949 Legislature for the construction of three new buildings—a gymnasium which will be added to the school building; a new storage room with living quarters on second floor; and a new garbage disposal plant. Construction will be started immediately on these buildings. The construction program also includes repairs and alterations to the present buildings.

WEST VIRGINIA INDUSTRIAL HOME FOR COLORED GIRLS

Huntington

Superintendent: Mary E. Brooks. Acting Secretary: Mrs. E. J. Coleman.

By an act of the 1921 Legislature, the West Virginia Industrial Home for Colored Girls, located in Huntington, was established at an estimated cost of $95,000. Modern, and fire proof, the institution, situated five miles east of the city of Huntington, was formally opened March 11, 1926 with a normal capacity of 32.

Two forms of commitments are followed; those made through the Juvenile Courts of the state, and voluntary commitments. The latter, upon the request of the parent, best friend, or guardian. A voluntary inmate may be released at any time upon the request of the person or persons responsible for such commitment without the usual procedure accompanying release of a duly committed inmate.

Corrective environmental training is provided, aiding greatly in the adjustment of the individual child.

The standard elementary grades are taught in the school department. No provision by the state is made for advancement in the educational program.

Many wholesome and stimulating activities are instituted as a measure to temper emotional instability and social readjustment.

WEST VIRGINIA INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR BOYS

Pruntytown

Superintendent: Jesse E. Riley. Financial Secretary: Rufus L. Yost. Enrollment: 250.

West Virginia Industrial School for Boys is located at Pruntytown, two miles west of Grafton, on U. S. Route 50. It was established by an act of Legislature in 1889 and was formally opened July 21, 1891. In addition to the principal school buildings which are located on the main campus, consisting of approximately 50 acres, the school owns and operates a farm of approximately 1,900 acres, on which there are located numerous modern farm buildings. The boys are given training in vocational trades in addition to the regular academic schooling. In 1941 a well equipped elementary school, operated on State-approved standards, was established with the cooperation of the State Department of Education and the College of Education of West Virginia University, and has, for the past three years been rated as a Model Elementary School by the State Department of Education. Beginning with the School year, 1942, a junior high school was established and has operated since as a first class Junior High School. A well-planned recreation and physical education program operates under the supervision of two qualified men. Put into effect in 1941 is a social service department which classifies each boy upon his reception, presents him for parole, and maintains liaison between County and State authorities throughout the State. A separate cottage for segregating the small boys of the Institution has been provided and work has been completed on two new cottages each of which will accommodate forty boys. This will aid greatly in segregating the population according to age and according to the seriousness of the offense for which committed. An honor system has been set up for the benefit of the boys. There is an active Boy Scout Troop and for the first time a wide awake 4H Club was organized in January 1949. A full time Chaplain provides religious instruction in the Academic School and holds a religious service once each week.

WEST VIRGINIA INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR COLORED BOYS

Lakin

Superintendent: Ellsworth H. Harpole. Enrollment: 70.

West Virginia Industrial School for Colored Boys, located ten miles north of Point Pleasant, on State Route 62, was established in 1921 by an act of the Legislature. It is a correctional institution for dependent, neglected and delinquent negro boys. Together with an approved six year elementary and six year high school, the institution offers vocational courses in cooking, barbering, auto mechanics, woodwork, plumbing and tailoring.

Many improvements have been effected at the institution over the past two years. These improvements include a swimming pool 81x40 feet, a new trades building which houses the auto mechanics, barbering, and tailoring units, indoor and outdoor basketball facilities, indoor and outdoor boxing facilities, tennis court, swings, high bars, indoor and outdoor volleyball facilities, and an improved baseball diamond. We compete with high schools throughout the State in our interscholastic program of basketball and football. Farm activities are confined to 4-H Club work in gardening, and poultry and swine raising.

Further improvements are under way that will make the institution one of the most outstanding of its kind in the country. These improvements call for a complete remodeling of the main building, to provide modern classrooms, dining room, and kitchen facilities. One portion is to be entirely made over into an approved classroom section with progressive facilities for instruction. Also to be constructed is a $100,000 gymnasium and staff dormitory.

PENAL

WEST VIRGINIA PENITENTIARY

Moundsville

Warden: Orel J. Skeen. Business Manager: Robert H. Wells. Inmates: 1,367. Prisoners assigned to road camps and other institutions: 599. Total: 1,966.

West Virginia Penitentiary, located in the City of Moundsville, just off State Route 2, was established in 1866 by an act of the Legislature. The Penitentiary itself is a six-acre enclosure on a ten-acre tract of land surrounded by a solid wall of hand-cut sandstone, 675 x 395 feet, 24 feet high, 7 feet wide at base, tapering to 28 inches at top, on which is a stone walk-way 42 inches wide. Aimed at reducing the hazards of involuntary idleness, several prison industries have been developed through authority of the 1939 Legislature. These shops are now making commodities for which there is a constant demand in the prison and other state institutions. None of the products manufactured are being sold on the open market. Also contributing greatly to relief of idleness is utilization of prisoners on road construction projects. The 1947 Legislature authorized separate management and control of the West Virginia Medium Security Prison at Huttonsville. The West Virginia State Prison for Women has been established at Pence Springs, therefore, all female inmates have been transferred to the new institution.

MEDIUM SECURITY PRISON

Huttonsville

Warden: Ira E. Briers. Financial Secretary: H. B. Walsh. Inmates: 380.

The Medium Security Prison is located on a farm near Huttonsville and is 18 miles south of Elkins on U. S. Routes Nos. 219 and 250. It was established by an act of the Legislature in 1937 and was designed to relieve over-crowding at the West Virginia Penitentiary and at the same time aid in the rehabilitation of prisoners. The majority of the inmates are employed in general farm work but many are employed in other vocational trades. They are quartered in modernly equipped dormitories in which there are no cells. The farm consists of 5,000 acres of which approximately 2,000 acres is suitable for cultivation and pasture. The farm products produced are in excess of the needs of the institution and are sold to other state institutions. The 1947 session of the Legislature separated the Medium Security Prison Farm the West Virginia Penitentiary and established it as a separate institution. All provisions of the law applicable to the Penitentiary are in effect, except that criminal proceedings against inmates of this institution are brought in the Circuit Court of Randolph County.

BERKELEY SPRINGS SANITARIUM

Berkeley Springs

Histories of colonists mentioned the qualities of the water as early as 1736. The 1939 Legislature authorized the Board of Control to lease this institution and grounds to private interests to encourage restoration of the spa to the position of national importance that it held from the time of President Washington until the Civil War. The temperature of the spring water is 74.3 degrees and is invariable, and is said to be helpful in the treatment of rheumatism, gout, diabetes, and skin diseases. The sanitarium has no facilities for housing patients, but for those who visit Berkeley Springs for baths, there are adequate hotel and boarding house facilities.

The Barboursville Unit of Huntington State Hospital, located at Barboursville, Cabell County, and reached by U. S. Route 60, was opened January 20, 1942, to meet an urgent demand for hospitalization of mentally defective people being kept in county jails because of crowded conditions at Weston, Spencer and Huntington. The State in 1941 purchased 23.76 acres of land and the two buildings which were formerly used as dormitories for Morris Harvey College, and patients were moved into the hospital as quickly as each section was reconditioned and equipped. On August 1, 1942, the hospital had a population of 270 patients, its capacity at that time. Since then additional space has been provided through renovation of the buildings until the present capacity of 315 patients has been attained. These 315 beds are constantly filled through transfers from Weston, Spencer and Huntington State Hospitals.

MILITARY

WEST VIRGINIA NATIONAL GUARD

(Corrected to September 1, 1949)

OKEY L. PATTESON, Governor
Commander-in-Chief

CHARLES R. FOX, Brigadier General
The Adjutant General

The West Virginia National Guard is authorized and governed by Article I, Chapter 15, of the West Virginia Code and is constituted as both State and Federal force by authority of the National Defense Act approved June 3, 1916, as amended to January 1, 1945, inclusive. The National Guard is a reserve component of the Army of the United States and is composed of officers and enlisted men who volunteer for duty and are qualified in accordance with Federal and State regulations governing same. In time of peace, the National Guard is a State force, controlled by the Adjutant General as a principal military representative of the Commander-in-Chief. The Adjutant General issues, in the name of the Governor, all orders to the National Guard, disburses funds appropriated by the State Legislature for this purpose and acts as Chief of Staff for the Commander-in-Chief. In the event of war, insurrection, rebellion, invasion, tumult or a case of imminent danger of said events, or in the event of public disaster, the Governor has power to order the West Virginia National Guard or any part thereof, into the active service of the State and to cause them to perform such duty as he shall deem proper. The National Guard is equipped and paid by the Federal Government, but must meet certain organizational and training standards to qualify for Federal recognition. When Congress declares a national emergency and authorizes the use of armed forces requiring troops in excess of those in the Regular Army, the President of the United States may order the National Guard into the active military service of the United States. Initial enlistments in the National Guard are for a period of three years with reenlistments authorized for either one or three years.

FEDERAL REFORMATORY FOR WOMEN

Alderson

Warden: Miss Nina Kinesella.

Associate Warden: Miss Margaret C. Jones.

Administrative Supervisor: Richard Hendricks.

The Federal Reformatory for Women is situated amidst the foothills of the Allegheny Mountains in Summers, Monroe and Greenbrier Counties. It was established by Act of Congress June 7, 1924, and the buildings and grounds have a value in excess of $2,000,000. It was designed to take care of all women Federal prisoners in the United States and the insular possessions and has a capacity of 500. There are fifteen buildings housing inmates, a Hospital, Administration Building, Laundry, School Building and Auditorium, Storehouse, Shops and an extensive farm with modern dairy, piggery and truck gardens. The Enabling Act specified that each inmate should be given training that would fit her to be self-supporting on her return to society, and the entire program of the institution is based upon this plan for rehabilitation. An intelligent and sincere attempt is made to supplant the old-time theory of punishment with a program of cleanliness, industry and education in citizenship. Classification and casework is highly developed to provide for adequate training within the institution and proper placement in jobs after release.

Captain Torbert, has served in the Corps for the past 17 years and was a Reserve Officer during World War II, after receiving a Field Commission. Wayne, Indiana, and served during World War II as a Reserve Officer with the First Marine Division, after receiving his commission upon graduation from Purdue University, with a degree in Chemical Engineering. The Staff of the Inspector-Instructor consists of two Regular Marine Corps enlisted men and eight Marine Corps Reserve enlisted men on continuous active duty.

The 20th Engineer Company, USMCR(O), is a separate company, operating under the Director, Fifth Marine Corps Reserve District, has an authorized strength of 12 officers and 218 enlisted Marines, plus a Naval Reserve Medical Officer and five Hospital Men.

The United States Savings Bonds Division for West Virginia, successor to the Treasury Department's wartime financing organizations in the State—West Virginia War Savings Staff and West Virginia War Finance Committee—came into being on January 1, 1946, following the successful termination of the Victory Loan drive, in which the State's army of Bond volunteers achieved an all-time high sales performance of 233 per cent of assigned quota.

Establishment of the Treasury's peacetime Savings Bonds organization was mainly one of consolidating the wartime gains made in the habits of thrift by insuring availability of Savings Bonds and Stamps at as many outlets as possible, and encouraging their purchase by the continuance of the methods so successfully employed during the war.

The United States Savings Bonds Division is a part of the office of the Secretary of the Treasury. National Director is Vernon L. Clark, of Des Moines, Iowa. State organizations are headed by state directors. Director for West Virginia is Bernard S. Payne, of Charleston, who became identified with the War Savings Staff as Deputy Manager in May, 1942, later being named executive manager of the West Virginia War Finance Committee. Prior to his affiliation with the Bond program, he was engaged in newspaper work in Columbus, Ohio, Welch and Williamson.

Following the retirement from the "firing line" of the hundreds of patriotic West Virginians who gave unstintingly of their time and talents to the war financing effort, State Advisory Committee was formulated in February, 1946, "to provide every volunteer who so desired a further opportunity for public service." The Committee is composed of approximately one hundred prominent citizens representing business, banking, industry, the church, education, labor, the press, radio, professions, and civic and social organizations. At the request of the Honorable Fred M. Vinson, then Secretary of the Treasury, A. C. Spurr, President of the Monongahela Power Company, of Fairmont, who served as State Chairman of the West Virginia War Finance Committee, accepted the state chairmanship of the advisory committee.

The U. S. Savings Bonds program provides for the financial security of the individual and is of the utmost importance to the national economy. Widespread ownership of Savings Bonds helps effect wide distribution of the national debt, spreads maturities by cutting down the large floating and short-term debt, helps reduce the amount of the debt held by banks and the Federal Reserve System, stabilizes purchasing power, and aids in leveling the peaks and valleys of business. Regular and systematic purchases are made possible through Payroll Savings Plans where people work, and a Bond-A-Month Plan offered by banks to customers with checking accounts.

Three securities comprise the Treasury Department's peacetime Savings Bonds program. They are: Series E, a ten-year appreciation bond bearing interest of 2.9%, compounded semi-annually, when held to maturity; Series F, a twelve-year appreciation bond with a yield of 2.53% if held to maturity; and Series G, a twelve-year current income bond with a yield of 2.5% each year, semi-annually, by Treasury check.

Sales of U. S. Savings Bonds in West Virginia in 1946 totaled $62,475,844, of which $45,187,492, or 72%, was in Series E Bonds to individuals. A study by the Division of Research and Statistics of the Treasury Department revealed that the best sales performances in the nation in 1946 were turned in by the District of Columbia, West Virginia and eleven middle-western farm states.

Sales in 1947 amounted to $62,567,625, a slight increase over the previous year's sales which in the face of rising living costs and many other adverse factors represented a remarkable achievement. Purchases of Series E Bonds by individuals accounted for 71 per cent of the total. On the basis of sales performance against quota, West Virginia tied with Illinois for 12th place in the nation in 1947.

For the twelve months' period January 1-December 31, 1948, sales in the State reached a peace-time high of $67,571,739.

In America's "Opportunity Drive," May 16-June 30, 1949, West Virginians purchased $13,450,405 worth of Series "E" U. S. Savings Bonds to top a campaign quota of $10,700,000 by a margin of $2,750,405 and earn for the State national sales honors of a 16th place tie with Texas and New Mexico. Sales represented 126 per cent of quota. Purchases of Savings Bonds in 1949 as of July 18 totaled $32,000,000.

Second oldest county in West Virginia. Created in 1772 from the northern third of Frederick County (Virginia), and named for Norborne Berkeley (Baron de Botetourt), Colonial Governor of Virginia from 1768 to 1770.

At Bunker Hill, in this county, in 1726, Morgan Morgan founded the first permanent settlement of record in Western Virginia. In commemoration of this event, the State of West Virginia has erected a monument in Bunker Hill State Park, and has placed a marker at the grave of Morgan Morgan, which is in a cemetery near the park.

The first Episcopal church (Christ Church) in what is now West Virginia was erected at Bunker Hill by Morgan Morgan in 1740. Three years later (about 1743), the first Baptist church (Mill Creek Church) was organized at Gerrardstown.

Salem—Harrison County

It was originally New Salem, so named because the settlers who established the town came in a body from Salem, New Jersey. They arrived in the spring of 1792. Two years later, in 1794, it was incorporated.

The first civilized habitation on the land now occupied by the City of Salem was a hunter's camp established by Nicholas Carpenter in 1785 who used it for a hunting and trapping center. He also used it for a sort of crude hotel for himself and his men who drove cattle from Clarksburg to the Ohio river at Marietta which was the nearest market.

Samuel Fitz Randolph purchased the property on which the village was founded in 1790. Mr. Randolph had started with a caravan of pioneer settlers from Salem, New Jersey, who crossed the mountains in 1789 and made their first stop at Woodbridgetown, Pennsylvania. Mr. Randolph, a number of Davises, some Maxsons, and others came on to what is now Salem, after a two and one-half year trek from the sea coast.

Salem was the first settlement of Seventh Day Baptists west of the mountains. It is now the home of Salem College, founded in 1888, and the Industrial Home for Girls established in 1898. Glass has been a major industry. The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and the George Washington highway and state highway No. 43 pass through it. It is the birthplace of Congressman Jennings Randolph and the great writer, Granville Davison Hall, author of Daughter of the Elm, the Rending of Virginia, and many other historical books.

STATE CAPITOL BUILDING

West Virginia's Capitol Building, one of the world's beautiful examples of Italian Renaissance architecture, stands on the north bank of the historic Great Kanawha River in the capital city of Charleston. Its golden dome, rising 300 feet, is a landmark visible both day and night from a number of distant points in the city.

Completed in 1932 at a cost of nearly $10,000,000, the building was designed by Cass Gilbert, an architect of international prominence.

The huge-U-shaped structure consists of a main unit and two wings which are situated on 16 acres of ground. There are 333 rooms and a total floor space of 535,000 square feet. Unlike the exterior of Indiana buff limestone, the interior is laid with Imperial Danby Vermont marble.

In the rotunda is a two-ton crystal chandelier which has 15,000 candle power. It is suspended 180 feet above the floor by a gold chain 54 feet long. Sparkling chandeliers in the House and Senate chambers are made of 10,000 separate pieces of rock crystal.

A specially-prepared paint, "Governor's Blue," covers the walls of the outer reception room of the governor's suite, the show room of the Capitol. A tan rug, 26x60 feet and weighing 1,800 pounds, carpets the floor and is said to be the third largest seamless rug in the world.

Directly beneath the executive suite is the State Museum containing numerous exhibits to illustrate the history, science and social conditions of early West Virginia.

STATE FLAG

Before the design of the present State Flag was officially adopted by the Legislature on March 7, 1929, West Virginia had been represented by several flags which had proved impractical.

Prominently displayed on the pure white field of today's flag and emblazoned in proper colors is the Coat of Arms, the lower half of which is wreathed by Rhododendron. Across the top, lettered on a ribbon, is the constitutional designation—"State of West Virginia." The white field is bordered on four sides by a strip of blue, and for parade purposes all but the staff side are to be trimmed with gold fringe.

STATE FLOWER

Rhododendron maximum, West Virginia's floral emblem, was designated the State Flower by joint resolution of the Legislature on January 23, 1903. This was during the administration of Governor Albert Blakeslee White.

Sometimes called "big laurel," rhododendron maximum is a shrub of the heath family, noted for big beautiful blossoms and evergreen foliage. It has large dark green leaves and clusters of pale pink or white blossoms delicately spotted with red or yellow. At all proper times and places it is displayed as the State Flower.

STATE BIRD AND TREE

The brilliantly costumed cardinal and the majestic sugar maple are the state bird and tree of West Virginia.

These were officially declared state emblems by a legislative committee of five on June 18, 1949, after tabulating votes cast by public school children, college students and representatives of civic, sportsmen and bird study groups. Both the bird and the tree are found in virtually all parts of the State.

GREAT SEAL OF WEST VIRGINIA

The Great Seal of West Virginia, which also is the Coat of Arms, symbolizes the principal pursuits and resources of West Virginia. Described briefly, the obverse side of the Seal bears the legend, "State of West Virginia," together with the motto, "Montani Semper Liberi" (Mountaineers Are Always Free); a farmer stands to the right and a miner to the left of a large ivy-draped rock bearing the date of the state's admission to the Union; in front of the rock are two hunter's rifles upon which rests a Phrygian Cap, or "Cap of Liberty."

The reverse side of the Seal is not in common use today. It was intended to be employed when the Seal was attached to documents by ribbons and suspended in the manner of a medal.

Joseph H. Diss Debar, of Doddridge County, designed the State Seal in 1863 at the request of the first West Virginia Legislature.

AERONAUTICS

Since the earliest days of history, nations have sought security behind barriers, either natural or man-made, as the cheapest and most dependable means of preventing aggressive action by neighboring countries. For nearly four centuries, the Arctic has been an unconquered natural barrier across the shortest routes between the East and the West. Up until the present, the vastness of the polar regions, the sub-zero temperatures, the endless miles of swampy tundra, the uncharted wilds, and the uninhabited terrain have afforded military security against an attack from the North. The birth of long-range aircraft and the gestation of the guided missile, however, have virtually nullified the military security nature provided in the Arctic.

The polar routes constitute the shortest pathways between the industrial complexes of Europe and Asia and those of the United States. Long-range bombers can travel those routes and attack the industrial potential of the United States with all the devastation inherent in third dimensional warfare. Because of this, the top of the world has become one of the most important strategic regions on earth. Not only must the United States be prepared to meet any enemy that attacks over the Arctic but also to attack that enemy through the same area.

During the days of the Civil War (1861-1864) man was content to hike and travel at the rate of approximately twenty miles per day. At the present time the speed of travel has exceeded the speed of sound. Yet in many cases the existing program of formal education throughout the world cannot meet the needs of our youths who are living in the air age.

What are the educational needs of youth in this air age? They certainly are different from those of an agricultural society fifty or a hundred years ago, yet formal education from the first grade through undergraduate college has not changed fundamentally. True, we have modern school buildings, places for recreation, courses in international relations and modern problems.

Atomic power will shortly be available for industrial use. What this will ultimately mean to society, economy, and world relations no one can say at the moment. Obviously, it does mean universally available energy where it is needed. Look through your son's or daughter's "economic geography" textbook for an answer to the above, or in his textbook on "modern problems." Are they modern? Certainly not now. The book is at least five years old and was probably written by an individual who was overfascinated and under-educated as far as airplanes, atomic energy, and radio are concerned. Our youths must be educated, not in classroom cells by teachers who have lived, but in realities of today and tomorrow, by teachers who are dreamers, thinkers, and planners of today and tomorrow.

What is the airplane doing to our society, economy and political arrangements? It is upsetting practically every foundation stone that has been laid. What will happen to our megalopolises like New York, Chicago and San Francisco. They were only created because of our dependence on ocean going and land transportation. The airplane by its very nature is an enemy of centralization, technically, economically, and militarily. These great cities have turned out to be poor places to enjoy living. This combination of facts should be of great concern in the education of youth. Is it? The best of textbook and teachers rarely mention such material facts.

Today we have one world—two thousand languages—not just English, French, German and Spanish. What good is Spanish to a youth whose future may be spent traveling China, India, Russia or even the interior part of South America? One young man had studied six years of Spanish, but on a recent trip around the world never used it once but had to learn words and phrases in twelve other languages in order to eat and sleep. Can the school of today answer this problem?

Teachers of today will say that learning comes through a combination of thought and action. The two cannot be separated.

Recently the World Congress on Air Age Education recommended the following:

1. All teachers of American youth, whether serving elementary, secondary, or higher education, should have flight experience.

2. Mass travel by students and teachers within the country and among countries of the world should be encouraged to the fullest extent.

3. Technological development of aircraft should be encouraged to provide more appropriate and economical air transportation specifically for educational purposes.

4. Research programs and in-service training for teachers should be established in every community in cooperation with aviation leaders to keep school curricula up to date.

5. Programs should be instituted which will permit teachers and youth to contribute to planning for the economic, and governmental policies might well be introduced into the schools as problems to be solved.

These things will not be accomplished by those who have not experienced flight. They can only come about by the greatest amount of cooperation among airmen and school people within each community.

This is the means toward Air Age Education. Air Power is Peace Power—Educate for Peace.

PROVISIONAL ESTIMATE OF THE POPULATION OF WEST VIRGINIA, JULY 1, 1949

The population of West Virginia was 2,093,000 on July 1, 1949, according to an estimate of the State Department of Health, Division of Vital Statistics. This figure represents an increase of 191,026, or 10.0 per cent over the 1,901,974 persons enumerated by the U. S. Bureau of the Census on April 1, 1940. This estimated increase in population is roughly the same as the increase during the decade 1930-1940 and considerably less than the increase for previous decades.

The estimated July 1, 1949 population of 2,093,000 for West Virginia is 9 per cent higher than the last estimate of the U. S. Bureau of the Census which was released as of July 1, 1948, and estimated the population as 1,915,000 on that date. From data available in the State Health Department it is felt that the Bureau of the Census' estimate is much too low. In preparing its estimate of population the Bureau of the Census estimates the population of the entire United States, then breaks the total down into the State population, and in some states there are peculiar local conditions which have a marked effect on the population that were apparently not considered by the Bureau of the Census when arriving at the population of West Virginia.

Some of the factors that lead us to believe that West Virginia is growing at a faster rate than the Bureau of the Census estimates are:

1. The ever increasing number of births and the higher birth rate while the number of deaths and the death rate are relatively the same.
2. The fact that the population of the United States, by the Bureau of the Census' own estimate, has increased to over 149,000,000 as of July 1, 1949, an increase of over 13 per cent since 1940, compared to their estimate of less than one per cent increase for this State in the same period.
3. The housing shortage which is general over the entire State, even after an accelerated building program.
4. The increasing number of small businesses, such as grocery stores, dry goods stores, filling stations and small eating places all of which require steady patronage to keep operating.
5. The increasing school enrollment each year.

In analyzing Item 1 we find that in the past nine years the birth rate in West Virginia has averaged 15 per cent higher than the birth rate for the United States as a whole while in the same period the death rate has averaged 10 per cent lower, which gives, in actual numbers, an increase of 288,816 in births over deaths for the State over the period 1940-1949, this is a natural increase. If we assume that only 66 per cent of this natural increase stayed permanently in the State and in the previous decades it has been shown that over 75 per cent have remained in the State, and that the immigration and emigration were equal we have an estimated increase of over 191,000 or 10 per cent more than the 1940 enumerated population.

Table A below gives the population, average annual increase, actual increase as compared to the normal increase.

	Popula- tion	Average Annual Increase	Actual Increase	Normal Increase (Births Over Deaths)	Actual as Percent of Normal

1940 (Enumerated).....	1,901,974	0.8%	172,769	225,237	77
1930 (Enumerated).....	1,729,205	1.4%	265,504	247,558	107
1920 (Enumerated).....	1,463,701	1.6%	242,582	N. A.	N. A.
1910 (Enumerated).....	1,221,119	2.2%	262,319	N. A.	N. A.

Ignoring the other four items mentioned previously, it would seem, from the above table, that our estimated increase of 191,026 since 1940 is fairly conservative, and it would appear even more conservative when you examine Table B below which substantiates Item 2 above.

	United States		West Virginia
	Number	Per Cent Increase	Number	Per Cent Increase
1949 (Estimated).....	149,000,000	13.1	2,093,000	10.0
1940 (Enumerated).....	131,669,275	7.2	1,901,974	10.0
1930 (Enumerated).....	122,775,046	16.1	1,729,205	18.1
1920 (Enumerated).....	105,710,620	14.9	1,463,701	19.9
1910 (Enumerated).....	91,972,266	21.0	1,221,119	27.4

In the above table it is shown that at each decennial census period the per cent increase of the population of West Virginia has been greater than that for the United States as a whole, with the exception of our estimate for 1949. However, if we had used the last Bureau of the Census estimate for West Virginia, West Virginia would have showed no increase as compared to a 13 per cent increase for the United States which in view of the facts is highly improbable.

Considering these facts we feel that our estimate of 2,093,000 for the population of West Virginia as of July 1, 1949, is fairly conservative but much closer to the actual population of the State than the last Census estimate.

Using our estimate for the State as a whole we have estimated the population for each county in much the same manner, that is, adding the births for each year and subtracting the deaths for each year from the 1940 enumerated population, and using an arbitrary figure for net immigration between the counties, based on a population estimate made in 1943 using Ration Book IV as a base.

HOW TO RESERVE CABINS IN STATE PARKS AND FORESTS

Official application blanks for rental of cabins in state parks or forests may be obtained by written, or personal, application to The Division of State Parks, Conservation Commission, State Capitol, Charleston. These blanks must be returned to the Division, properly filled in, before applications can be approved.

Approved applications are listed strictly in order of their receipt, regardless of the identities of the applicants—in other words, cabins are rented upon a "first come, first served" basis. No applications will be received until March 1, and no out-of-state applications will be processed until April 1.

Check or money order in the amount of the total cost must be enclosed with application. Application blanks may be obtained by writing to the address noted.

Limited overnight lodging, obtainable upon request to the park superintendent, may be had at Cacapon and Babcock State Parks. Arrangements for reservation of picnic areas for large groups, play fields, etc., may be had with the park superintendent, direct.

FISHING STREAMS AND SPECIES

For the benefit of anglers who desire information relative to stocked fishing streams and nearest towns in which hotel accommodations can be found, the following list has been prepared. Numerous other streams and tributaries other than these listed have received substantial stockings of fish. These, however, are the largest, most important and probably the most capable of supporting extra heavy angling pressure. It must be understood that the order in which they are listed does not indicate the number of fish placed in the stream or the anglers chances of catching fish. Fishing in any of these streams does not necessarily indicate that the Conservation Commission promises the limit of fish to each fisherman. This is intended merely as a guide.

FOREST SERVICE

(U. S. Department of Agriculture)

MONONGAHELA NATIONAL FOREST

Headquarters: Elkins

Monongahela National Forest was proclaimed by President Woodrow Wilson on April 28, 1920, under the Weeks Law. This law of 1911 provides for cooperation by states with the United States in the protection of watersheds of navigable streams. In West Virginia, the national forest was established mainly for flood protection in the Ohio and Potomac River valleys. It is one of a system of 152 national forests and the only national forest wholly in West Virginia.

In administration, the public forest is dedicated to the protection, development, and management of all its resources for the greatest good to the greatest number.

Within the proclaimed boundary there are 1,673,747 acres of which 805,905 acres are owned by the United States. Directly in charge of the national forest is the Forest Supervisor. In the national forest are five ranger districts, each in charge of a district ranger.

The public forest is administered in cooperation with the game, fish, law enforcement and forestry divisions of the Conservation Commission of West Virginia, as for example, in wildlife habitat improvement work, stream stocking, and other wildlife management activities. By law, twenty-five per cent of receipts from the sale of timber and other products and use fees is returned to the nine national forest counties.

At Parsons is one of the largest forest tree nurseries east of the Mississippi River. Its production capacity of 5,000,000 tree seedlings yearly is for reforesting eastern national forests. The Conservation Commission of West Virginia is presently utilizing these nursery facilities, cooperating in meeting its reforestation needs.

DEPTH AVAILABLE FOR NAVIGATION

(Data furnished by the War Department)

Ohio River—Improvement of the Ohio River, as authorized by Congress in the River and Harbor Act of June 25, 1910, provides for a channel depth of 9 feet in the entire 981 miles of the river by the construction of locks and dams and open channel work. The system of locks and dams throughout the river provides a navigable depth of 9 feet at ordinary river stage. New dams of modern design have been completed near Hogsett, West Virginia, (Gallipolis Locks and Dam), at Montgomery Island, 32 miles below Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and at Emsworth Locks, 6.2 miles below Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Monongahela River, West Virginia and Pennsylvania—The existing project provides for improvement of the river by 13 locks and dams to afford slack-water navigation for its entire length from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, to one mile above Fairmont, a distance of 128 miles. The project is approximately complete and the controlling depth between Pittsburgh and Point Marion, Pennsylvania, 90.6 miles above the mouth is 9 feet, and above Point Marion 7 feet to the upper limits of the project.

Kanawha River, West Virginia—The existing project provides for the construction of 3 modern dams on the Kanawha River, with twin locks at London, Marmet and Winfield, and the Gallipolis locks and dam on the Ohio River, near Hogsett, West Virginia, to furnish a 9-foot navigable depth from the Ohio to a point 90.57 miles above the mouth. The dams at London and Marmet were completed in 1934, and the Winfield dam in 1937. The Gallipolis locks and dam were completed in October, 1937, thus making available a channel depth of 9 feet from the mouth of the river to the head of navigation.

Big Sandy River, West Virginia and Kentucky, including Levisa and Tug Forks—Under the existing project, 3 locks and dams were constructed on the main river, and one lock and dam were constructed each on Levisa Fork and Tug Fork. Only the lower lock and dam on the main river is in operation at the present time to provide a slack-water depth of 6 feet from the Ohio River to a point about 7 miles above the mouth. The remaining two structures on the main river have movable dams which are placed in use only at such times as the needs of navigation require. The Levisa Fork Lock and Dam No. 1 and the Tug Fork Lock and Dam No. 1 have not been operated for several years.

Tygart River Reservoir—The Tygart River Dam, located on the Tygart River, 2¼ miles upstream from Grafton, as authorized by the Public Works Administration January 11, 1934, and approved by Congress in the River and Harbor Act of August 30, 1935, provides for a dam 1,880 feet long and 207 feet high for the storage of 290,000-acre tract of water to control floods and aid navigation in the Monongahela River. The dam has been completed and is now in operation as a unit in the reservoir system for the protection of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and the upper Ohio Valley generally.

Bluestone Reservoir Project—This project, located on the New River near Hinton, was authorized by Presidential executive order in 1935 and approved by Congress under the Flood Control Act of 1936. Construction of the project was begun early in 1942; however, the work was suspended in 1944 because of the war emergency. Construction was resumed in January 1946, and has been prosecuted steadily to the present advanced stage of project completion. The project is expected to cost about thirty million dollars when completed late in 1950. The dam will be 165 feet high and 2,061.5 feet long. The reservoir will have a capacity of 631,000-acre feet to serve a drainage area of 4,565 square miles. During periods of low and normal flows in New River, the elevation of the reservoir will vary about 5 feet, with a minimum pool of 7.8 miles in length and 1,020 acres in area that will utilize about 11,000 acre-feet of the total reservoir capacity. The remaining reservoir capacity will be reserved for impoundment of flood flows as required for flood control.

Little Kanawha River, West Virginia—The existing project provides for 5 locks with fixed dams, to give a navigable depth of 4 feet from the mouth of the river to Creston, a distance of 48 miles. Under this project one lock and dam was constructed and 4 were purchased from the Little Kanawha Navigation Company. Only the lower lock and dam is in operation at the present time to provide a slack water depth of 4 feet from the Ohio River to a point about 14 miles above the mouth. The remaining structures are placed in use only at such times as the needs of navigation require.

THE FIRE MARSHAL'S DEPARTMENT

C. A. RAPER, Fire Marshal
1703 Washington Street, East

The fire marshal's department is under the control of the Insurance Commissioner, and is maintained by a tax of one-half of one percent of the net premiums on all business done in the state by fire insurance companies.

This tax provides a special fund, which is set aside for the maintenance of the department, and the state is not liable for any salaries or expenses incident thereto, and such salaries and expenses can be paid only from this special fund.

This department investigates all fires reported to be of incendiary or suspicious origin, reports the same, and assists the prosecuting attorneys in prosecution of all arson cases brought to trial.

Other duties include the inspection and engineering for fire protection and prevention in all public schools, state-owned properties, including colleges, penal, mental, charitable and correctional institutions, buildings used for purposes of the Department of Public Assistance, and all private-owned hospitals, nursing homes, alcoholic homes and clinics required to obtain licenses to operate within the state, toward the elimination of loss of life and property by fire.

Inspections for fire prevention and protection are also made of places of assembly, hotels, theatres, mercantile buildings, office buildings and apartment houses, and for the repair or removal of dilapidated buildings.

In addition to the suppression of arson, the inspection and engineering of buildings and fire prevention and protection activities, the fire marshal's department also supervises the enforcement of the fireworks laws.

During the year 1948, thirty-five state institutions were inspected, consisting of charitable, correctional, penal, hospitals and schools, upon which recommendations were submitted for correction against loss of life and property by fire, as follows:

Charitable: West Virginia Children's Home, three buildings; West Virginia Colored Children's Home, three; West Virginia Home for Aged and Infirm Colored, four, and West Virginia Training School, three.

Correctional: West Virginia Industrial Home for Colored Girls, four; West Virginia Home for Girls, nine; West Virginia School for Boys, sixteen and West Virginia School for Colored Boys, ten.

Educational (State Colleges): Bluefield State College, nine; Concord College, thirteen; Fairmont State, five; Glenville State, seven; Marshall College, twelve; Shepherd State, eleven; West Liberty State, seven; West Virginia Institute of Technology, nine; West Virginia School for Colored Deaf and Blind, four; West Virginia School for Deaf and Blind, twelve, and West Virginia State College, sixteen.

Hospitals and Sanitariums: Andrew S. Rowan Memorial Home, fourteen; Berkeley Springs Sanitarium, five; Denmark Sanitarium, four; Fairmont Emergency Hospital, one; Hopemont Sanitarium, nineteen; Huntington State Hospital, thirteen; Barboursville Unit, two; Lakin State Hospital, six; Pinecrest Sanitarium, ten; Spencer State Hospital, eleven; Welch Emergency Hospital, four, and Weston State Hospital, sixteen.

Penal: Medium Security Prison, one; West Virginia State Penitentiary, fifteen, and West Virginia State Prison for Women, one.

These institutions total two hundred eighty-nine buildings.

Each year approximately nine hundred public school buildings are inspected statewide, and are reported with recommendations submitted to the county superintendents of schools, in order to bring about elimination of fire and life hazards by fire. Although in 1948 there were only four hundred sixty-eight schools covered due to the inspections for the State Health Department, many of these schools consisted of more than one building.

Also during the year of 1948, a statewide inspection was made of hospitals, clinics, alcoholic homes and rest homes, privately-owned, in order to eliminate existing hazards to life and property from fire, resulting in a minimum standard of safety, due to the type and construction of some of the buildings.

These inspections were made at the request of the State Department of Health, before these hospitals could be licensed, and covered the following:

Hospitals, sixty-seven; clinics, thirty-five; alcoholic homes, fifteen, and rest homes, thirty-four.

Reports were written on each one of these hospitals, some of which covered several buildings to each hospital.

Each year an average of thirty-five statewide inspections are made and reported, with recommendations toward the elimination of fire hazards to life and property, of buildings and institutions where Welfare patients are kept. This is done at the request of the State Licensing Board for Welfare Agencies.

Also, each year approximately one hundred inspections are made of dilapidated or unsafe buildings such as places of assembly, hotels, theatres, etc., for repair, adequate means of egress and exit, or removal, in addition to checking blueprints and locations for proposed fire escapes.

Note: These figures are based on the 1948 year.

In addition to the foregoing activities, the Fire Marshal's Department has charge of issuing fireworks display permits, and the enforcement of the fireworks laws.

During the year of 1948 there were eighty-seven requests for investigations of fires of incendiary or suspicious origin, all of which were worked out to some conclusion—that they were of accidental origin, or there was not enough evidence for criminal procedure, or arrests were made, indictments procured and some convictions obtained.

Of these eighty-seven requests and investigations, sixty-nine were to the point that full and concise reports were written and put on file in the office.

The remainder of the eighty-seven investigations, eighteen were not written into reports due to the fact that the investigations disclosed from evidence that they were of accidental or legitimate origin.

Eighteen of the sixty-nine cases upon which reports were written resulted in arrests, indictments, convictions, acquittals, or release, as follows:

Arrests, 18; indictments, 13; convictions, 12; acquittals, 1; released from arrest, 1; indictments nolle, 4; cases pending in court, 1; convictions and probations, 3; convictions and sentences to mental institutions, 5, and convictions and sentences to state penitentiary, 4.

Thirty-seven of the eighty-seven investigated cases are closed for lack of sufficient evidence, and fourteen remain open for further investigation.

Capitulation

87 cases investigated.

18 upon which no reports were written.

18 resulting in court procedure.

14 open for further investigation.

37 closed for lack of evidence.

DEPARTMENT OF PROBATION AND PAROLE

R. M. KNOTT, Director

Established by the West Virginia Legislature in 1939, the office of the Director of Probation and Parole has endeavored to set in motion a program that will lead to the rehabilitation of many offenders. Conditional release from custody after an offender has served a portion of his sentence and met certain rigid selective standards has done much, we believe, to aid the reclamation of offenders and will prove of lasting benefit to society in this State.

The recently compiled statistics for a period ending July 1, 1948, point out what is being done in West Virginia by the Department of Probation and Parole:

WEST VIRGINIA STATE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

Modernization of public health laws is necessary to keep pace with a progressive program of public health protection. A progressive step was taken by the 49th Legislature by abolishing the overworked Public Health Council and creating the Medical Licensing Board to administer the medical licensure law and the State Board of Health to determine policies for the statewide public health program. The new Board of Health gives the people of West Virginia greater representation than formerly and will prove its merit in the future progress of West Virginia's program of health protection.

The public health program of West Virginia functioned on a total budget of $2,291,572 during 1948-1949. Of this amount, 45 per cent was provided by Federal funds, 28 per cent was provided by local government units, and the remaining 27 per cent was appropriated by the State. This was far from adequate to meet the existing needs of the State. However, the Budget Bill passed by the 49th Legislature provided an increase of approximately one-half million dollars for the coming year. This will facilitate a more far-reaching program of public health protection for the people of West Virginia.

Throughout the State, the shortage of qualified professional personnel presented a real problem. This was especially true for the positions requiring physicians, dentists, and public health nurses. Taking the case of the last mentioned, accepted standards require one public health nurse per 5,000 population. During the past year, West Virginia was served by one public health nurse per 22,000 population.

By the end of the 1949 fiscal year, all but five counties in West Virginia had local health services to some extent. Eighteen counties, singly or in combination, enjoyed the services of health departments with full-time medical directors while 20 counties were under the supervision of part-time health officers. The remaining 12 counties had less adequate service.

During 1948, there were 52,195 births in West Virginia and 17,626 deaths. This provided a Vital Index of 296 births per 100 deaths which is a very good record. During the past 11 years, the infant death rate has dropped from 71.3 infant deaths per 1,000 live births in 1937 to 40.2 infant deaths per 1,000 live births in 1948. Of the total deaths in 1948, diseases of the heart, cancer, and cerebral hemorrhage were the leading killers, in that order.

A recent state survey, as a part of a national study, revealed that about 79 per cent of West Virginia children under 15 years of age are without adequate health facilities. The maternal and child health program initiated two new clinics during the year: the Rheumatic Fever Clinic in Fairmont and the Children's Diagnostic Clinic in Charleston. There are now over 80 well-child conferences functioning in the State and about 14,000 or 9 per cent of the pre-school children were given health supervision during the year.

Despite the difficulty in securing dental clinicians, the dental health program reached about four per cent of the children in the State. The sodium flouride demonstration team provided an additional 4,000 school children with protective sodium flouride treatments.

Meeting the ever-increasing demand for public health laboratory services has been most difficult in the present inadequate physical plant. Services were provided at a per capita expenditure of 6.9 cents which is much lower than the recognized standard for adequate public health protection.

The incidence of the venereal diseases continues to be a major problem. During the past year, over 10,000 new cases of venereal diseases were reported. However, this is a decrease of about 30 per cent in relation to the previous year. About 3,600 of these cases were provided treatment at the West Virginia Medical Center.

The second year of the mental hygiene program saw two new community clinics opened. This brings the total to four clinics in the State. Also, there was increased educational activity which is essential to a program of preventive mental hygiene.

Almost 700 needy cancer patients were given financial assistance in procuring medical and surgical care. The 25 per cent increase in this appropriation item for the coming year will allow for even greater assistance in the fight against cancer.

For the control of tuberculosis, well over 112,000 citizens of West Virginia were given free chest X-rays. The appropriation for the hospitalization of needy tuberculous patients provided assistance for over 800 patients. When the 49th Legislature discontinued this fund and made sanatorium beds free for all patients, the goal of eventual tuberculosis eradication was inestimably facilitated.

The hospital licensing program got underway during the past year and 113 hospitals and medical care institutions were approved and granted licenses. In the hospital construction program, there was much interest throughout the State but the lack of local funds prohibited construction. However, two projects in Charleston were granted funds under Public Law 725 of the 79th Congress.

Throughout the State, there was increasing activity in the improvement and construction of public water supplies. Still, much more work must be done before all the citizens of West Virginia have safe water. The food sanitation program made rapid progress with 14,000 food handlers, employed in public eating places, receiving instruction.

About five per cent of all industries in the State were given direct service through the industrial hygiene program. Engineering and chemical studies were made of working environments with recommendations made for improved conditions. A two and one-half year study of atmospheric pollution in Charleston was completed.

The State Committee of Barbers and Beauticians conducted examinations for over 500 applicants and almost 800 certificates of registration were issued. All barbers and beauty shops were regularly inspected in the interest of sanitary facilities.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

(WEST VIRGINIA STATE POLICE)

West Virginia is proud of its state police, nationally recognized as an outstanding law enforcement organization.

Its 200 professional policemen in distinctive forest green uniform perform a large share of the law enforcement in West Virginia. Among their routine duties are the investigation of serious crime, apprehension of dangerous criminals, protection of life and property, patrolling the highways and handling traffic.

The department now has thirty years of tradition and service behind it, having been created in 1919 to cope with conditions following the first World War. West Virginia was a pioneer among state law enforcement agencies, and has been widely copied by other states which have since established such departments.

Particularly admired has been the simple and flexible administrative set-up, which delegates large responsibility to commanders in the field. There is no time-consuming and inefficient division of police work within the organization. The detachment commander and his troopers in the field are trained and competent to handle immediately all police service of any nature when called upon.

The department utilizes the most modern methods, and its effectiveness lies in extreme mobility, with a large fleet of well-equipped two-way radio patrol cars, and an efficient network of radio communication. State policemen move quickly to apprehend dangerous criminals or to reach the scene of disaster or riot when their services are needed to protect life and property.

In Charleston the department maintains an Identification Bureau and Technical Laboratory for scientific examination of evidence. The Identification Bureau serves as the state bureau, receiving fingerprints from all law enforcement agencies for its reservoir of valuable information regarding crime and criminals. The Technical Laboratory has qualified personnel and equipment to make examination of physical evidence to aid in solution of crimes and to strengthen the chain of evidence against the accused in criminal cases. The Technical Laboratory serves city, county and other state law enforcement agencies as well as the state police department.

The success and prestige of the state police department is largely attributed to the high standards set for recruits and to the exceptional training given to every member. Applicants, to be eligible, must be between 21 and 30 years of age, high school graduates, at least 5' 9" tall, weigh not less than 155 pounds, be in good physical condition, and of good moral character as determined by a thorough investigation by a member of the department. Of those eligible, the best men are selected for enlistment by adaptability and intelligence tests and an extremely rigid physical examination.

The recruit entering the department attends a ten-week training school, where he learns military drill, self-defense, criminal law, first aid, investigation, care and use of firearms, techniques of arrest, identification and many other subjects useful to a professional policeman. Throughout his first year the new trooper is on probation, and when assigned to duty he is placed under close supervision until he gains the experience to make him a competent and valuable policeman. The recruit must measure up to the standards of men whose work calls for long hours, arduous duty, self-reliance, and the moral and physical courage which is a tradition of the service.

The new trooper is not eligible for promotion until he has had two years of service. After that his advancement is dependent upon merit as demonstrated by performance of duty, adherence to discipline, the respect which he commands, and his achievements in the apprehension of criminals and the investigation and prevention of crime and motor vehicle accidents, protection of life and property, and his qualities of leadership. The posts of higher responsibilities in the West Virginia State Police are held by veteran officers who have come up through the ranks by years of aggressive and faithful service of the highest order.

Besides their broad functions of law enforcement, the state police perform a host of minor services to benefit the citizen. They are a powerful force for crime prevention as they escort payrolls, attend large public gatherings, and mobilize at the scene of floods, fires or other disasters to discourage looting. The trooper on highway patrol is a powerful deterrent against the automobile thief, the criminal who transports his loot by automobile, and the irresponsible drunken and reckless drivers. The troopers examine all applicants for driver's license and school bus driver's license, inspect school buses and carry on a number of activities related to greater safety on the highway. The state police assist and cooperate with all agencies of government, working with city and county officers, game wardens, Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and others in the interest of law and order.
