WEST VIRGINIA LEGISLATURE

2018 REGULAR SESSION

Introduced

Senate Bill 111

FISCAL NOTE

By Senators Trump, Rucker, Maynard, and Karnes

[Introduced January 10, 2018; Referred to the Committee on Education; and then to the Committee on the Judiciary]

A BILL to amend the Code of West Virginia, 1931, as amended, by adding thereto a new article, designated §18B-20-1, §18B-20-2, §18B-20-3, §18B-20-4, §18B-20-5, §18B-20-6, §18B-20-7, §18B-20-8, §18B-20-9, §18B-20-10, §18B-20-11, §18B-20-12, §18B-20-13 and §18B-20-14, all relating to enacting the Forming Open and Robust University Minds Act; and addressing the exercise of First Amendment rights on public university campuses.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of West Virginia:

ARTICLE 20. FORMING OPEN AND ROBUST UNIVERSITY MINDS (FORUM) ACT. §18B-20-1. Legislative findings.

The Legislature finds:

- (1) The First Amendment of the United States Constitution and the West Virginia Constitution protect the rights of free speech, freedom of the press, freedom of religion, and freedom of association for all citizens.
 - (2) The United States Supreme Court has called public universities, "peculiarly the marketplace of ideas," Healy v. James, 408 U.S. 169, 180 (1972), where young adults learn to exercise these Constitutional rights necessary to participate in our system of government and to tolerate others' exercise of the same rights, and there is "no room for the view that...First Amendment protections should apply with less force on college campuses than in the community at large," Healy, 408 U.S. at 180.
 - (3) The exercise of First Amendment rights on public university campuses in this state is a critical component of the education experience for students and requires that each public university in this state ensure free, robust, and uninhibited debate and deliberations by students whether on or off campus.
 - (4) Public universities in this state and elsewhere are failing to provide adequate safeguards for the First Amendment rights of their students leading to a stifling of expression on campus.
 - (5) The United States Supreme Court has warned that if public universities stifle student speech and prevent the open exchange of ideas on campus, "our civilization will stagnate and die." Sweezy v. New Hampshire, 354 U.S. 234, 250 (1957).

(6) A significant amount of taxpayer dollars is appropriated to public institutions of higher education each year and as such, this Legislature must ensure that all public institutions of higher education receiving state funds recognize freedom of speech as a fundamental right for all, now therefore be it enacted by the State Legislature of the State of West Virginia as follows:

(c) This section does not limit the right of members of the campus community from holding counter demonstrations, if the conduct of the counter demonstrations is not unlawful and does not materially and substantially prohibit the free expression rights of others on campus, or does not disrupt the functioning of the institution of higher education.

A public institution of higher education may not deny a belief-based student organization any benefit or privilege available to any other student organization, or otherwise discriminate against a belief-based organization, based on the expression of the organization, including any requirement that the leaders or members of the organization:

§18B-20-11 Remedies.

Any person or student association aggrieved by a violation of this article may bring an action against the public institution of higher education and any other persons responsible for the violation and seek appropriate relief, including, but not limited to, injunctive relief, monetary damages, reasonable attorneys' fees, and court costs, subject to section thirty-five, Article VI of the West Virginia Constitution.

This section does not limit any other remedies available to any person or student organization.

§18B-20-12. Limitation of actions.

A person may bring suit for violation of this section only within one year after the day the cause of action accrues. For purposes of calculating the one-year limitation period, each day that the violation persists, and each day that a policy in violation of this section remains in effect, is a new violation of this section and, therefore, a new day that the cause of action has accrued.

§18B-20-13. Immunity.

The state waives immunity under the Eleventh Amendment of the United States Constitution and consents to suit in a federal court for lawsuits arising out of this article. A public institution of higher education that violates this article is not immune from suit or liability for the 4 violation.

§18B-20-14. Adoption of policy on free expression.

The Higher Education Policy Commission and West Virginia Council for Community and Technical College Education shall each develop and adopt a policy on free expression that contains, at least, the following:

- (1) A statement that the primary function of an institution of higher education is the discovery, improvement, transmission, and dissemination of knowledge by means of research, teaching, discussion and debate, and that, to fulfill this function, the institution must strive to ensure the fullest degree of intellectual freedom and free expression;
- (2) A statement that it is not the proper role of the institution to shield individuals from speech protected by the First Amendment, including, without limitation, ideas and opinions they find unwelcome, disagreeable, or even deeply offensive;
- (3) That students and faculty have the freedom to discuss any problem that presents itself, as the First Amendment permits and within the limits of reasonable viewpoint, and content-neutral restrictions on time, place, and manner of expression that are consistent with this article and that are necessary to achieve a significant institutional interest: Provided, That these restrictions are clear, published, and provide ample alternative means of expression; students and faculty may assemble and engage in spontaneous expressive activity as long as the activity is not unlawful and does not materially and substantially disrupt the functioning of the institution;
