1 A BILL to amend and reenact §59-3-1 of the Code of West Virginia, 1931, as amended, relating
 2 to requiring newspapers qualified to publish legal advertisements must accept 3 advertisements for publication from political candidates without regard to content; and 4 providing exceptions.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of West Virginia:

ARTICLE 3. NEWSPAPERS AND LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

 8 with at least an interval of six full days within the period between the date of the first publication
 9 and the date of the second publication.

10 (4) "Once a week for three successive weeks" means three publications of a legal 11 advertisement in a qualified newspaper occurring within a period of twenty-one consecutive days
 12 with at least an interval of six full days within the period between the date of the first publication

 14 between the date of the second publication and the date of the third publication.

15 (5) "Publication date" means the date on which a qualified newspaper is first placed in 16 circulation.

22 notice to the residents of the publication area.

23 (b) Wherever the term “qualified newspaper” or “qualified newspapers” is used in this 24 article, or the term “newspaper” or “newspapers” is used elsewhere in this code or in any other

26 terms shall be taken to mean only a newspaper or newspapers, as the case may be, published
27 (unless otherwise expressly provided) in the State of West Virginia and which meet the following 28 qualifications:

30 in the publication area. A newspaper is considered to be of regular issue if it is published regularly,
31 as frequently as once a week, for at least fifty weeks during the calendar year as prescribed by 32 its mailing permit; and has been published for at least one year immediately preceding the date
33 on which the legal advertisement is delivered to the newspaper for publication. A newspaper is 34 considered to be of bona fide, general circulation in the publication area if it meets the definition
35 of “general circulation” as defined in this section and is circulated to the general public at a definite 36 price or consideration.

37 (2) Any newspaper shall bear a title or name, consist of not less than four pages without 38 a cover, and be a newspaper to which the general public resorts for passing events of a political,
39 religious, commercial and social nature, and for current happenings, announcements,
40 miscellaneous reading matters, advertisements and other notices.

41 (3) Any newspaper shall accept advertisements for publication, subject to the provisions
42 of §59-3-6 of this code, from political candidates without regard to content: Provided, That the 43 advertisements do not contain profane or obscene material.

44 (c) Notwithstanding any other provision of this code or law to the contrary, a qualified 45 newspaper shall for all purposes be considered to be published where it is first placed in 46 circulation.

NOTE: The purpose of this bill is to require newspapers qualified to publish legal advertisements must accept advertisements for publication from political candidates without regard to content. The bill provides exceptions for advertisements containing profane or obscene material.
