Dear Speaker Thompson:

Pursuant to the provisions of section fourteen, article VII of the Constitution of West Virginia, I hereby disapprove and return Enrolled Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 2431. In view of the foregoing, I must veto Enrolled Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 2431.

Sincerely,

Earl Ray Tomblin,
Governor.

The Honorable Natalie E. Tennant

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA

Speaker, West Virginia House of Delegates
State Capitol
Charleston, West Virginia

Dear Speaker Thompson:

Pursuant to the provisions of section fourteen, article VII of the Constitution of West Virginia, I hereby disapprove and return Enrolled House Bill No. 2814. The bill's enacting section refers to a new article of the West Virginia Code that is not referenced in the bill's title or included in the body of the bill, therefore rendering the bill constitutionally defective. In addition, on page 4, line 90, there is a nonfatal grammatical error, and the line should be revised to read "he or she" instead of "her or she".

In view of the foregoing, I must veto Enrolled House Bill No. 2814.

Sincerely,

Earl Ray Tomblin,
Governor.

A message from The Clerk of the House of Delegates announced the reconsideration, amendment and passage as amended, of a bill disapproved and returned by the Governor with his objections, and requested the concurrence of the Senate in the passage, of

The question being on the adoption of Senator Unger's motion that the Senate reconsider Enrolled House Bill No. 2814, the same was put and prevailed.

On motion of Senator Unger, the Senate concurred in the following House of Delegates amendment to the bill:

By striking out the enacting section and inserting in lieu thereof a new enacting section, to read as follows:

That §61-2-17 of the Code of West Virginia, 1931, as amended, be amended and reenacted to read as follows:.

The question now being on the passage of the bill, disapproved by the Governor and amended by the House of Delegates.

On the passage of the bill, the yeas were: Barnes, Beach, Blair, Boley, Cann, Carmichael, Chafin, Cole, Cookman, Edgell, Facemire, Fitzsimmons, Green, D. Hall, M. So, a majority of all the members elected to the Senate having voted in the affirmative, the President declared the bill (Enr. H. B. No. 2814) passed with its title, as amended, as a result of the objections of the Governor.

Ordered, That The Clerk communicate to the House of Delegates the action of the Senate.

Senator Kessler (Mr. President) next laid before the Senate the following communication from His Excellency, the Governor, which was read by the Clerk:

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA
OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR
CHARLESTON

April 17, 2013

The Honorable Richard Thompson
Speaker, West Virginia House of Delegates
State Capitol
Charleston, West Virginia

Dear Speaker Thompson:

Pursuant to the provisions of section fourteen, article VII of the Constitution of West Virginia, I hereby disapprove and return Enrolled House Bill No. 3160.

The bill's title evidences a technical error. Specifically, the title references the bill's "authorizing adoption of separate and requests of waivers" without including the word "policies" following the word "separate". Without the inclusion of the word "policies", the title fails to reference the purpose of subsection (b) of §18-5-11a, which permits the board to "adopt policies for the school that are separate from the policies of the respective counties". Moreover, there is an incorrect cross-reference in subsection (c) of §18-5A-2a, on page 7, line 43-44, which refers to "subdivisions (1) and (2), subsection (a) of this section." This cross-reference should refer to "subsection (b) of this section" because subsection (a) does not include subdivisions.

Further, there are also some nonfatal technical issues relating to the designation of subsections, subdivisions, paragraphs and subparagraphs in §18-5-11a. These issues begin on page 4, line 57 with "(A) Personnel." Because this should be a subparagraph, (A) should be revised as a lower case Roman numeral, (i), and the rest of the section should follow accordingly. Finally, on page 5, line 90, subsection (b) should be revised as subsection (d) because there was a previous subsection with that designation in the section.

In view of the foregoing, I hereby veto Enrolled House Bill No. 3160.

Sincerely,

Earl Ray Tomblin,
Governor.

Veto Messages

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA
OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR
CHARLESTON

April 29, 2013

The Honorable Natalie E. Tennant
Secretary of State
State Capitol
Charleston, West Virginia

Dear Ms. Tennant:

Pursuant to the provisions of section fourteen, article VII of the Constitution of West Virginia, I hereby disapprove and return Enrolled Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 21. This bill requires in its §16-1C-2 that employees of a health care provider wear an identification badge when providing direct patient care. The applicability of this section to certain employers, however, is questionable because of an incorrect cross-reference on page 4, line 1 of the Enrolled Committee Substitute. This cross-reference should refer to section “two” instead of section “three”. Moreover, page 2, line 1 contains a similar error. Page 2, line 1 should refer the reader to section “two” rather than section “three”.

Because these internal cross-references in the bill are incorrect, I must veto the legislation.

Very truly yours,

Earl Ray Tomblin,
Governor.

Dear Ms. Tennant:

Pursuant to the provisions of section fourteen, article VII of the Constitution of West Virginia, I hereby disapprove and return Enrolled Senate Bill No. 65. This bill would authorize the Division of Natural Resources police officers in the Public Employees Retirement System (“PERS”) to deduct their retirement income in calculating their personal income taxes. I have serious concerns about providing disparate tax treatment to a very narrow class of retirees within PERS. Moreover, the bill creates a risk that the class will be expanded through litigation to include other retirees within PERS seeking the same tax treatment.

For the aforementioned reasons, I hereby disapprove of Enrolled Senate Bill No. 65.

Sincerely,

Earl Ray Tomblin,
Governor.

Dear Ms. Tennant:

Pursuant to the provisions of section fourteen, article VII of the Constitution of West Virginia, I hereby disapprove and return Enrolled Senate Bill No. 331. This bill provides the West Virginia Courthouse Facilities Improvement Authority (the “Authority”) with the ability to issue bonds to raise funds for paying the costs of approved modifications or construction of courthouse facilities. Under this bill, the debt payments on the bonds would be made from funds deposited into a special revenue account known as the Courthouse Facilities Improvement Fund (the “Fund”). The Fund is comprised solely of special fees charged at county courthouses including a certain portion of marriage license fees, civil action filing fees, and fees for licenses to carry a concealed weapon. As I understand it, the amount of fees deposited into the Fund has remained steady at approximately $2 million annually.

While I applaud the general intent of the bill to provide additional funding for our aging courthouses, I am concerned about the prospect of encumbering all or part of the fees that the Authority receives, for a period of up to thirty years, to pay debt service. The Authority already utilizes these fees to run its daily operations and to provide grants to renovate courthouse facilities. Absent any additional appropriations from the Legislature, I believe that the potential long-term funding issues facing the Authority significantly outweigh the positive attributes of this bill.

For the aforementioned reasons, I hereby veto Enrolled Senate Bill No. 331.

Very truly yours,

Earl Ray Tomblin,
Governor.

Dear Ms. Tennant:

Pursuant to the provisions of section fourteen, article VII of the Constitution of West Virginia, I hereby disapprove and return Enrolled Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 2738. Although the purpose of the bill is well-intentioned, the bill embraces more than one object in violation of the Constitution of West Virginia. See W. Va. Const. art. VI, §30.

The title of Enrolled Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 2738 states “all relating generally to administration of financial aid and higher education scholarship programs by the Higher Education Policy Commission”. The bill, however, also amends the article establishing the Center of Nursing, including provisions relating to the powers and duties of the Center and its board of directors. These provisions do not relate to the HEPC’s administration of financial aid or scholarships, and they constitute a separate and distinct object from that set forth in the title of the bill.

For the aforementioned reasons, I hereby disapprove of Enrolled Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 2738.

Sincerely,

Earl Ray Tomblin,
Governor.

REMARKS OF
HONORABLE
RONALD F. MILLER

Wednesday, February 20, 2013

SENATOR MILLER: Thank you, Mr. President. It is written:

I believe in the future of agriculture, with a faith born not of words but of deeds—achievements won by the present and past generations of agriculturists; in the promise of better days through better ways, even as the better things we now enjoy have come to us from the struggles of former years.

Such are the words of the national Future Farmers of America Creed. I want to remind all of my colleagues of every district in this state that this week, until Saturday, is Future Farmers of America Week. We would like to honor them—particularly those students who are involved.

FFA was started in 1928 by a small number of young men who had an interest in being good students and better farmers. Today there are half a million members throughout this country in every state. It's not a male-only organization. About half of the members are female and a full 50 percent are females elected in the leadership of FFA.

I stand today to ask the members of this body to explore the local FFA chapters in your own district, encourage the growth of such and try to acknowledge them at some point this week if you can.

I also stand today to express to this membership my concern as we start looking at educational reform not to forget this area of education. Many education systems are discontinuing this viable, career-directed organization and its training; and we are having a very difficult time finding qualified teachers for our schools in this field throughout the state. I truly believe that agriculture—and I believe the future of agriculture—can be exciting. A new direction for the development and growth of our state. And FFA will play a viable role in that direction in finding young men and young women who are interested in wonderful career possibilities found in agriculture.

As the FFA Creed continues to say—and these words seem to apply to all of us:

I believe in leadership from ourselves and respect from others. I believe in my own ability to work efficiently and think clearly, with such knowledge and skill as I can secure, and in the ability of progressive agriculturists to serve our own and the public interest in producing and marketing the product of our toil.

I believe in less dependence on begging and more power in bargaining; in the life abundant and enough honest wealth to help make it so—for others as well as myself; in less need for charity and more of it when needed; in being happy myself and playing square with those whose happiness depends upon me.

I believe that American agriculture can and will hold true to the best traditions of our national life and that I can exert an influence in my home and community which will stand solid for my part in that inspiring task.

Those are the words of their Creed and I think they fit well for us this day.

So, please remember our FFA members this week.

Thank you.

HONORABLE
H. TRUMAN CHAFIN

Tuesday, March 5, 2013

SENATOR CHAFIN: Thank you, Mr. President. Ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, I am proud to announce that today is Mercer County Day. The Senator from Mercer and I invite you to shake hands with the people from Mercer County today when you see them. Take a minute to become acquainted with them.

Mercer County is a great county. I am very honored now to represent that entire county in the Senate along with the Senator from Mercer, Senator Cole. It's in the southeast part of the state and it borders Virginia. Whenever you do something in Bluefield, you almost have to count on what they do across the line in Bluefield, Virginia. Half is in West Virginia; half is in Virginia. My hometown of Williamson—half is in Mingo County, West Virginia; half is in Pike County, Kentucky. So the laws that we pass here in West Virginia greatly affect the operation of businesses and the attraction of businesses in southeast West Virginia—particularly Mercer County.

It's been said that the future depends on what we do today. That's true. Death, taxes and change—you can't avoid them; but progress is mandatory.

Several of you have been around a while. Those of you who have served with me for several years have seen the fight that the former Senator from Mercer, our Minority Leader, Senator Caruth—who is no longer with us—and I had. We had some gallant fights here on this floor trying to remove or do something about the Turnpike tolls.

It is a real burden on four counties in southern West Virginia, particularly Mercer County. I drove down to The Greenbrier hotel last night to be a guest speaker and I spent $8 on the way down. These people travel every day and they spend $12 a day. They are here today, and they all pay a lot of money for tolls out of their budget every year.

It deters the attraction of businesses to Mercer County. They don't have that in Virginia. As you all know, the Turnpike is paid by the mile by the federal government because it's an interstate system. But the West Virginia Division of Highways takes the money they get for that 88 miles and spends it on other sections of the state because they can charge the people of southeast West Virginia.

I got the revenues and for 2012 the toll revenues came in at $83,907,000. The operating expense was about $79,938,000. The operating income last year was about $11,186,000.

I have a bill today that just came up. I will read you the note on the last page here. It says: The purpose of this bill is to require the West Virginia Parkways, Economic Development and Tourism Authority to transfer one half of one percent of the gross revenues it receives from the operating of the highway formerly known as the West Virginia Turnpike to the county commissions where the highway is located. The bill identifies those counties as Kanawha, Fayette, Raleigh and Mercer.

I didn't go for one percent or two percent or five percent. I went for one half of one percent which would be about $4 million. It would give Mercer County's tourism, through the county commission, about a million dollars a year to compete with what's going on in Virginia where they have no tolls. They want to do a horse park. They want to do all kinds of things that's going to add to the coffers of West Virginia.

Ladies and gentlemen, Mr. President, I believe that our charge in this Senate is to create an environment. We can't pass laws to make everything happen, but we need to pass laws that will create an environment so we can have businesses flourish and so they can have money to do things like we're trying to do in Mercer County.

I know the people of Kanawha County and Raleigh County and Fayette County will have the same options and will probably want to work with their county commissions. I do hope you will consider this, Mr. President. It's carefully thought out. I think the Senator from Mercer will probably support it; we've talked about it. But I want you to read it to see if you think it is reasonable and let me know what you think.

I don't want to pass anything or I don't want to operate the revenue where it will affect their ability to pay the bond. That's not the purpose at all. It will at least lighten the load on those who have paid it for years and years and years. This thing was paid off years ago and they just keep sticking it on. They're not going to take it off. It's going to be paid off in 2019—some of us might be here; some of us might not. But they probably are not going to take it off. We don't know who the Governor and the Legislature will be at that time. But, if we give them a little bit of the money that they are paying, it will go a long ways to helping these people.

Today would be a great day to tell the people of Mercer County what you think. I appreciate your time and attention.

Thank you, Mr. President.

HONORABLE
JOHN R. UNGER II

Thursday, March 14, 2013

SENATOR UNGER: Thank you, Mr. President. Today several of us here introduced Senate Joint Resolution No. 8 (Proposing constitutional amendment designated Nonpartisan Election of State Board of Education Amendment). Of course, this resolution is meant to go on the ballot, Mr. President. It will let the people decide if they want to truly elect their State Board of Education or not.

As you know, Mr. President, we already elect county boards of education. They are held accountable by the people. County boards of education then, of course, will hire the county superintendent. At that point the people can hold the county level as far as accountable.

However, if you look at the constitution, the State Board of Education says they are the fourth branch of government. They are the only branch that's not accountable to anybody. No election. The first branch, of course, is the Legislature, by constitution. And that's us and we're accountable to the people. The second branch, of course, is the executive. The Governor is accountable to the people. Of course, the Supreme Court is the other branch, with 12-year terms they are accountable to the people. As well as circuit judges that have elections and so forth.

However, I asked the President of the State Board of Education this morning at the meeting who they were accountable to. He said the constitution. They are appointed for nine-year terms. They make the majority of the state policies for education.

There are 115 policies that are produced by the State Board of Education which really has no oversight from any branch of government. Now, we do have a Legislative Oversight Commission on Education Accountability which I serve on along with the Chairman of Education. We review these policies and can give suggestions; but we don't really vote on them. As a matter of fact, it's not like the Legislative Rule-Making Review Committee, Senator from Jefferson, where the agencies come forward and the Legislature looks at these things and, ultimately, we vote on them here. No, we have no input other than just suggestions on all those policies. There's 115.

Now, I want to show you something. This right here is West Virginia state law annotated. These are all the state laws that we have passed for education. I couldn't carry them all, but this represents just four education policies—four of the 115 that the State Board of Education passes down to the counties. Now, in order for me to get all of them here, I would have had to have 31 books—which I was afraid would have cluttered my desk and people wouldn't have been able to get to me—but 31 books in order to show you what they do. They make these decisions—and I'm not saying they're bad decisions or good decisions—but, nonetheless, they make these decisions without any accountability to anyone except the constitution as the Board President said.

Well, I found out this morning, Mr. President, they also have appropriation power. I didn't realize that. They have just hired on as a Board of Education employee—not a West Virginia Department of Education employee but a Board of Education employee—a person called Director of Operations for $104,000. They are also proposing two more positions that they want to fill. While all these agencies and all these bodies and our schools and higher education and DHHR are taking a 7.5 percent cut, they are increasing their staff.

So, I asked the question: What authority were you given to be able to hire this person onto your staff? And, is this the first time this has ever happened? The answer was: Yes, this is the first time in the history of West Virginia that this has ever happened. We hired someone but what we did I said: Well, who authorized this; who gave you the money? He said: Well, we just took a vacant position, vacant positions, in the West Virginia Department of Education and used that money to hire the person for us. I said: Well, who authorized that? Well, we did. And so again, Mr. President, they're hiring people without even appropriation from the West Virginia Legislature because they are reaching in, taking money that was appropriated to the West Virginia Department of Education that's supposed to go to our children for education and they're taking it to hire staff.

Now, I'm not debating the issue that that staff person is needed. That staff person may be needed. But the issue is accountability and process. You know, Mr. President, I share with you and many others in this State of West Virginia that I am sick to death of being 49th in education. I think we need reform and we need reform badly. Also, Mr. President, I would like to share with you that we've been focused a lot on the teachers here and the reforming of that and so forth. I suggest there is room for reform. But we've been focusing on the teachers only—the hiring practices of the teachers.

But I've always thought that when you have reform you look at the whole structure and you start at the top and work your way down. So, Mr. President, what this amendment does is it gives the people of West Virginia an opportunity to vote on whether or not they want to take control of their education system and look at the hiring practices of the State Board of Education.

Now, the President of the State Board of Education told me that the constitution is the only thing that gives them authority to be able to do what they do. So, if you really look at the constitution—let me share with you that: Under Article XII of the Constitution of West Virginia—this is his authority—the first section reads: The Legislature shall provide, by general law, for a thorough and efficient system of free schools. Sounds pretty clear to me that’s actually general law we give this leadership in here.

But then it goes on to say: Supervision of Free Schools. And this is where the State Board of Education comes in. Second section says: The general supervision of the free schools of the State shall be vested in the West Virginia Board of Education, which shall perform such duties as [may be] prescribed by law. As prescribed by law. The West Virginia Board of Education shall, in the manner prescribed by law, select the State Superintendent of Free Schools who shall serve at its will and pleasure. He shall be the chief school officer of the State, and shall have powers and shall perform such duties as [may be] prescribed by law.

Now, I’ve been here for a while and maybe I missed it, Mr. President, but I don’t remember any law that this body passed—by constitution we are the ones that do that—that we passed to authorize the State Board of Education to hire anybody except for the superintendent, which is by constitution. Now, I missed it. I’m willing to be corrected if someone can show me this. No, Mr. President, I think that according to the President of the State Board of Education it was their decision to hire this person at the $104,000 salary and it is their intention also to get two more.

I guess also that if we don’t, by budget, give them the money they will do what they did today or yesterday—reach into the West Virginia Department of Education money, find vacancies and just basically hire someone anyhow. No accountability, Mr. President.

I would suggest, Mr. President, we look into that. I think there ought to be an investigation in the authority issue here. I think there are real constitutional and legal problems in which they may have overstepped their bounds. But, who do they answer to? Well, I was told the constitution, but the constitution doesn’t authorize it.

So, Mr. President, I think we have a real problem here. I’m just trying to offer up a potential education reform that gives authority back to the people. Allow the people to control this and elect their own representatives to the State Board of Education. When the board oversteps their bounds they would have to answer to the people.

I hope no one disagrees with that. I mean, we elect everyone else. Why not the State Board of Education? I was told: Well, one pushback could be that you don’t want to politicize the State Board of Education. Well, all you’ve got to do is see some of the members on there. If you don’t think there’s politics on the State Board of Education, then I’m not sure you can see any of this. Anyhow, the idea is whose hands do we want to put the control into and that is in the hands of the people.

So, Mr. President, I would say to you that starting today, as we do education reform, we need to be looking all up and down the system—being 49th in the nation. As Harry Truman would say: The buck stopped with him—at the top. I think the buck starts at the top and then we work ourself down, Mr. President.

Thank you.

Designating Hall Flintlock Model 1819 official state firearm

(Adoption of Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 7)

HONORABLE
JOHN R. UNGER II

Friday, March 15, 2013

SENATOR UNGER: Thank you, Mr. President. This resolution, of course, is going to designate the Hall Flintlock Model of 1819 as the official state firearm. This particular firearm is very historic for West Virginia. We suspect—and we haven't gotten confirmation yet—but it may very well be one of the guns at the foot of one of the Mountaineers on the Seal of West Virginia. Anyhow, I am going to go ahead and ask the Doorkeeper to unveil this and I will tell you a little bit about it.

This particular gun came from the National Park Service in Harpers Ferry. I had to sign my life away just to bring it down here. I assured them it would be returned. This Hall Flintlock Model of 1819 was manufactured at the National Armory in Harpers Ferry by John H. Hall and was adopted for use by the United States Army in 1819.

In 1817 Hall received a contract to deliver 100 of these rifles to the U. S. Army. The government was particularly interested in Hall's ideas about the interchangeable parts. In 1819 he was granted another government contract, this time for 1,000 rifles.

The Hall Flintlock Model of 1819 was the first breech-loaded rifle to be adopted by any nation's military. The special feature of Hall's rifle was that, unlike other guns, it did not have to be loaded through the muzzle by pouring the powder down the barrel and ramming down the bullet. Hall's rifle had a block at the breech near the operator's body that could be lifted out and allow the operator to insert the powder and ball. It was, therefore, easier and faster to load. The breechblock could even be removed and used as a pistol.

The Hall Flintlock Model of 1819 saw action in several frontier wars and was still in use during the Civil War.

John Hall's rifle was the first entirely machine-made weapon ever devised. The precision allowed by machine production permitted Hall's weapons components to be interchangeable—therefore, allowing for manufacturing of guns versus the craftsmanship. Hall's rifle was the first U. S. military breechloader ever manufactured. Hall's technological innovations advanced industrialization to what would be called the American System of Manufacturing. In the Industrial Revolution mechanization would replace hand craftsmanship.

So, Mr. President, this is a very historic rifle. I am understanding that they only know of three in existence. This particular rifle, as I mentioned, comes from the National Park in Harpers Ferry. After the Legislature adopts—if we adopt—this resolution, they are going to have a special display for this. This gun is still fired at least once a year at the National Park.

So, with that, Mr. President, this is a very historic gun for West Virginia—manufactured in West Virginia—and actually has been very much a part of the history of West Virginia. On this sesquicentennial year of the formation of our state, I think it's only appropriate that we recognize this as a very historical gun for our state. With that, Mr. President, I ask that this resolution be adopted.

Thank you.

HONORABLE
MIKE GREEN

Wednesday, March 20, 2013

SENATOR GREEN: Thank you, Mr. President. Ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, I put a handout here on your desks today. It's a copy of The Register-Herald editorial this morning. I would just like to read a little bit and talk to you about substance abuse here in West Virginia. It starts out:

"Substance abuse is killing West Virginians nearly every day.

"Families are suffering.

"The abuse of drugs is touching every community.

"It is affecting crime rates, our economy and health care costs.

"We must continue the fight against this terrible and rampant cultural issue."

It goes on to say that not every drug abuser is on public assistance. We understand that.

"But if it straightens up a good percentage of folks that would fall under the guidelines, it would be a success.

"It wouldn't hurt children of those abusive homes.

"It would help them.

"Living in the living conditions that drug abuse brings, that's what's harmful to our children.

"An addict's habits and abusive lifestyle should not be sustained by tax dollars.

"A bill that wages war on the current epidemic of drug abuse in our state must be considered thoroughly and carefully.

"Not set aside.

"The future of our state depends on it."

Now, I will tell you this has hit home for me. Friday, a week ago, I lost a family member. We buried him last Monday. He was a bright, articulate young person. He was an All-State athlete—just an all-around great guy. The sky was the limit. About ten years ago, he got hooked on prescription drugs. The past ten years he battled that epidemic. He battled that demon while his family had to sit and watch. On Friday, at 3:30 in the morning, he went out looking for a fix. He was walking down the center line on a road in Wyoming County and was hit by a coal truck.

Now, luckily, he didn't have any immediate family or children; but he was on public assistance. For the last eight years that public assistance fed his drug problem. He did nothing with that assistance—absolutely nothing productive, nothing constructive—except purchase illegal drugs. Fed his habit. His mother took care of him. He lived with his grandmother. This is not someone who 20 years ago you would have said . . . I mean the sky was the limit, great athlete, very articulate, went to college. Again, luckily in this instance he didn't have any children. His addiction affected no one but himself other than his family members who had to sit and watch.

Now, the media has started paying attention to the issue of drug testing folks on public assistance. The day before yesterday there was a front page article in The Register-Herald that brought this to people's attention. I can tell you that I have received literally hundreds of e-mails, Facebook comments, tweets in support of this issue—people who, like my family, see it every day. They see the effects of the drug problem. They see the effects of what this is doing to our society.

Now, not one person has e-mailed me, called me, sent me a Facebook message or anything in opposition to this. But I know there are two big issues. One, the constitutionality of this and, yes, there are questions. Right now there are currently seven states that have some form of welfare drug testing measures—Louisiana, Oklahoma, Alabama, Ohio, Missouri. Florida passed legislation last year that required all welfare recipients, all people on public assistance to be tested. A lawsuit was filed by the ACLU. Their lawsuit alleges a violation of the Fourth Amendment right. Currently, that program is on hold pending the outcome of this lawsuit. I'm very much aware of that, but that should not prohibit us here in West Virginia from having that discussion. We should not wait to see what a Florida court rules before we continue discussion on this issue.

The other issue, and the issue of my concern I supported this concept five, six years ago, but I was not willing to sign onto the legislation until I knew that the children in these homes were going to be cared for—they were not going to have to be in more harm than they were living in those homes.

So, this legislation, what it does—it says that if a person on public assistance tests positive, they have within 30 to 60 days to enter a substance abuse program. Within 30 to 60 days they have to be retested. If at the end of that 30 to 60 days, if they have another positive test, they lose those benefits for up to a year. At the end of that year, they can sign back up for assistance but they have to have a mandatory drug test.

The bill also allows a third party to administer these benefits to the household members. These children are not going to be without. They are not going to be without their funds. These children are not going to be without food. I ask you: If at the end of 60 days, if this individual decides not to come clean, if they decide not to make the right decision for those children—what really is worse? What really is worse than putting those children back in those homes where the parents don't care enough—or don't have the ability to address those issues? To me, it is more dangerous putting those children back in those households. If that problem is severe enough that they are not going to get clean to protect those children—then I think we are doing a disservice to those children by putting them back in that home.

Yesterday, we passed great legislation, Engrossed Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 359 (Relating generally to reforming public education) under the leadership of the President and the Senator from Wayne. We talked about the ultimate goal—student achievement. Everything we talked about for the last 30 days was student achievement. We went from ISE to OSE to 180 days. We addressed a lot of issues to increase student achievement.

You tell me what's more important for student achievement than putting those kids in a home with an opportunity to learn—with an opportunity to have a full belly when they come to school. I know this is a multifaceted, multicomplex problem. There is not going to be one silver bullet that cures it.

Yesterday, we sent a piece of legislation over to the House that we think is going to be a major step in improving student achievement. And I think it will. Obviously, they are going to fast-track it across the hall to be out of here by Friday and we'll move on.

I challenge you, if you want to effect student achievement, consider this bill. Consider the effects on those students that are completely out of their control. They have no control whatsoever where they live, who or what their caregivers are doing.

Tonight the Select Committee on Children and Poverty is going to be in my home county of Raleigh in Beckley. I, along with the Senator from Wyoming—which we do not serve on the committee—are going to be there. And I can assure you that you're going to hear heart-wrenching stories, not only about poverty, but you are going to hear about the challenges that we face. Again, a very, very difficult subject. No one silver bullet. I can assure the majority of those people there are going to be on public assistance. An overwhelming percentage of those people are going to have some type of addiction—and to me, it's disheartening to know.

Again, I want to reiterate there are some constitutional issues that have to be addressed. We have to address this issue. We have to face these challenges.

Today MetroNews listed the five unhealthiest counties in West Virginia: Wyoming, McDowell, Mingo, Logan and Boone. It's not a coincidence. We are unhealthy. We have a high rate of people on public assistance. We have an enormous rate of people dependent on illegal and illicit drugs. We can continue to bury our head in the sand. We can continue to say the Fourth Amendment protects these folks. Who's protecting the children? Who's going to look out for the children?

And for those of you who have been here as long as I—you know I don't stand up here very often. I don't take the microphone and I don't ask you for anything normally. But I can tell you from personal experience—I can tell you from watching my family struggle with this issue—that it's real. If we don't address it, who will? Who will?

Mr. President, I've gained more respect for you than anyone in this body. When you used to sit right there in that first seat, you would give passionate speeches. You would challenge us to think outside the box. You would stand up and you would make us look at ourselves, at issues that you felt were an injustice to the people of West Virginia. Issues varied I won't mention the issues. I challenge you. I plead with you to stand with me and speak for the injustice of these children—because if we don't, no one will.

Thank you, Mr. President.

REMARKS OF
HONORABLE MIKE HALL

Thursday, March 21, 2013

SENATOR M. HALL: Thank you, Mr. President. I rise to speak to the bill briefly. I served on the committee that looked at this issue with the folks on reinvestment. We certainly have a problem.

In the past few days this bill has been talked about publicly. I've heard criticisms of it, I thought I'd give a brief explanation as to why I'm going to vote yes on this bill. I want to talk about a couple things that I've been hearing. I've had to resolve in my mind the question of early release which some people have brought up as an objection saying that that's being soft on crime. Those kinds of comments have been made. I'm a layman. I'm not in the system. I'm not a lawyer. I've never been involved in this, but my decision to vote yes is based on the fact that it makes sense to me that even if you let somebody out six months early and you supervise them that recidivism will be less. If you allow them to stay six more months with no supervision that recidivism will be more. The statistics show that.

So there are those who may argue about that as this bill proceeds to the other side of the building. There is going to be some discussion about that point and there's going to be some discussion about the sort of scheduled or stepped-in parole issue. There'll be some discussion about that; but overall, with the rehabilitation section in here, the funding to do the kinds of things we haven't done in the past—on balance this may not make everybody happy. I'm comforted by the fact that even the Great State of Texas, which we all know is a very Republican area, had a Republican legislator who actually saw the issue of needing to build, possibly build new prisons, that led the charge down there in order to get the kinds of policies that are in this piece of legislation.

So, I will admit it's been a struggle the past few days in terms of whether I would vote yes or no based on some of these things that I've been hearing in the public. I wanted to go ahead and say I've resolved this in my mind. I've spoken recently to the prosecutor from a county I represent who deals with this on a daily basis. I rise to say that I personally support this bill, of course, I am not speaking for the caucus but for myself. I just wanted to stand up and give an explanation as to my yes vote and to make these comments that are relative to the questions that have been raised by the public about the bill.

Thank you, Mr. President.

Relating to prison overcrowding

(Passage of Engrossed Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 371)

REMARKS OF HONORABLE CLARK S. BARNES

Thursday, March 21, 2013

SENATOR BARNES: Thank you, Mr. President. I appreciate you giving me the opportunity to speak, and I appreciate the great deal of effort that our Judiciary committee folks have put into this bill.

I have had the opportunity, Mr. President, to sit for the past few years on the Legislative Oversight Committee on the Regional Jail and Correctional Facility Authority. We have month-after-month sat and heard the statistics. We have seen the statistics. They have been laid out in front of us.

The Senator from Nicholas and I represent an area in which we have Huttonsville Correctional Center, one of our larger prisons. We also have, I believe, two, maybe three, regional jails within our area. Mr. President, we have problems. We have problems that, basically, this bill just touches. But we have to do something. The question is: Do we want to continue to put people in prison and build—put another $200 million into another prison in West Virginia?

Now, we've got situations here in West Virginia. I've also had the pleasure of sitting on, Senator from Berkeley, the committee that he put together for children and poverty. We see how the situation with poverty in West Virginia is also related to our prison population. We see how the problem with truancy in schools is related to our prison population. We see how our problem with the dropout rate and the pregnancy rate and all these social ills that we have here in West Virginia and would like to take care of are related to our prison population. But we, as a governing body, can't cure our social ills. All we can do is take little steps to try and correct what we can.

The people that work in our prisons—especially the people that work in our regional jails right now—are in danger. We're holding the people that should be in prison in our regional jails right now. We have the kinds of problems in those regional jails that you're supposed to have in prisons. Except we're not equipped to take care of them. We don't have the programs. We don't have drug treatment. We don't have rehabilitation in those regional jails. Those are things that we have to address.

But, Mr. President, I stand here after looking at our problem with prison overcrowding for a number of years and say: This is a step in the right direction, and I certainly urge my fellow members to join me in a vote yes for this bill.

Relating to prison overcrowding

(Passage of Engrossed Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 371)

HONORABLE
WILLIAM R. LAIRD IV

Thursday, March 21, 2013

SENATOR LAIRD: Thank you, Mr. President. Ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, I rise today in strong support of Engrossed Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 371 (Relating to prison overcrowding) as a well-researched, thoroughly vetted, systemic and responsible public policy response to our very real and growing prison overpopulation problem in West Virginia.

As Cochairman of the Legislative Oversight Committee on the Regional Jail and Correctional Facility Authority for the past four years, we have been made well aware of this growing prison overpopulation problem and its potential consequences for the public safety of our citizens. Over the past decade, West Virginia has had one of the fastest growing prison populations in the United States. Between the years 2000 and 2009, our state's prison population grew at an average rate of 5.7 percent per year. By comparison, the national average increased 1.7 percent per year. Accordingly, the growth in the rate of our state's prison population has been more than three times higher than the national average. Most alarmingly, if left unchecked, projections are the population will continue to grow 45.7 percent by the year 2020, with an expected population of over 9,700 people behind bars in our state correctional institutions.

In an effort to put a Band-Aid on this problem, in the past several years we have undertaken a course of action to expand the capacity of our regional jails by retrofitting them to accommodate those state-committed offenders for which there is no room in our state correctional institutions. It is not without serious concern that I report to you that over 1,700 inmates, or approximately one-quarter of offenders sentenced to the care, custody and control of the West Virginia Division of Corrections are currently being housed in our regional jails throughout the state because the state prison system is full. One of the consequences of this short-term strategy has been to deny these inmates the ability to access those treatment and program services required in order to make them parole eligible. Of further concern to our Oversight Committee has been more recent reports of increased instances of inmate-on-inmate and inmate-on-staff assaults occurring in our regional jails.

For these compelling reasons, it is clear that our legislative duties and responsibilities to the citizens of West Virginia require us to undertake a comprehensive and well-reasoned course of action to begin to address this serious problem and to do so in a manner that will not compromise the public safety of our citizens and the communities in which we live.

In the late spring of last year, much to his credit, Governor Tomblin chose to request the technical assistance and support of the nonpartisan Pew Center on the States and the Justice Center of the Council of State Governments to employ a data-driven justice reinvestment approach to reduce corrections spending and reinvest a portion of the savings generated in strategies that would increase public safety in our state. It is important to note that this same justice reinvestment approach has proven to be highly effective in achieving meaningful corrections reform in a number of states throughout the nation.

To guide this important effort in our state, a bipartisan, inter-branch working group was established. It has been my privilege to participate in the work of this group throughout this process. In the months following the establishment of the Justice Reinvestment Working Group, experienced research analysts collected and analyzed over 650,000 data records and conducted 100 in-person meetings with stakeholders and practitioners working within the framework of our criminal justice system. Engaged in this process which constitutes the foundation of this legislation were leaders and representatives from our law-enforcement profession, crime victims, advocates and survivors, probation and parole officers, community corrections staff members, behavioral health and treatment providers, judges, prosecuting attorneys, members of our defense bar and all state agencies working within the framework of our criminal justice system. Ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, I would submit to you that the bill that is before us today is the final product of an inclusive, collaborative and consensus-building process that has been driven by careful review and analysis of the data necessary to properly frame this important issue.

While I will not burden you today by reviewing the specific provisions of this bill which have already been explained, vetted, discussed and acted upon by both the Judiciary and Finance committees of this Senate without dissent, I will make the observation that the true strength of this legislation and the real potential that it holds to begin to flatten and eventually bend the curve of our growth in population lies in the totality of the individual components contained within this bill. In approaching this complex problem, I have long recognized that there is no single silver bullet of a caliber high enough to solve this problem. For those who would maintain the costly alternative of a bricks-and-mortar solution to this problem, I would suggest that we would be back here in a few years still searching for other alternatives.

While the expansion of community-based sentencing options for nonviolent offenders will be helpful in flattening our population growth—that alone will not get the job done. While the application of graduated sanctions as an improved method for the handling of persons who violate the technical conditions of probation and parole will be helpful—that alone will not get the job done. While the development of effective substance abuse treatment programs within our state correctional facilities will be helpful—that alone will not get the job done. While requiring post-release supervision as an effective method for offender reentry to the communities in which we live will be helpful—that alone will not get the job done.

Again, the strength of this bill can be found in the aggregate or the totality of the component parts. As this bill continues to advance through this legislative process, any effort to amend or dilute it will have the very real and serious consequences in our effort to flatten and eventually bend the curve in the growth of our prison population.

In conclusion, Mr. President, most of my work career has been within the criminal justice or law-enforcement profession. Throughout the years, I've been called a lot of things, but soft on crime isn't one of 'em. In our consideration of this important matter of public policy, the temptation may exist to posture oneself politically by pounding on your chest and proclaiming, "I'm tough on crime!" Within the context of my experience and career, I feel no need to do so.

What does concern and alarm me is the fact that our state prisons and regional jail system are busting at the seams. In the meantime, we continue to incarcerate nearly 900 offenders each year for nonviolent offenses committed by persons with no documented violent crime histories. At the same time, under our current system, we allow nearly 900 offenders to max-out their sentences and walk out the side door of our prisons each and every year with absolutely no form of community supervision whatsoever. This bill fixes that problem. In the end, I would maintain that this legislation would not only help to flatten the curve of our prison population growth but will also make us safer in the communities in which we live.

Mr. President, I encourage the passage of this legislation.

HONORABLE
JOHN R. UNGER II

Thursday, March 21, 2013

SENATOR UNGER: Thank you, Mr. President. It is with much regret and heavy heart that I am saddened today to report that earlier this week one of our former members, Senator Jae Spears, has passed.

Senator Spears, a Democrat from Randolph County, was first elected to the West Virginia State Senate in 1980 and served as a distinguished member of this body for 12 years. Before coming to the Senate, she served three terms in the House of Delegates. Her determination and dedication to serve her beloved region and the people of this Great State of West Virginia was only exceeded by her intellect, quick wit and elegance. Recently likened to the persona of Margaret Thatcher, the first female Prime Minister of Great Britain, Senator Spears' accomplishments in this Senate body included many unparalleled achievements.

She was the first woman ever appointed to the position of Senate Majority Whip, Senator from Fayette, making her the first woman to hold a leadership role in either legislative body. More importantly, she became the first and only woman to serve as Chairman of the Senate Finance committee, Senator from Marion.

Her public service has touched the lives of nearly all West Virginians and many throughout this country. She was one of three senators who wrote the bill authorizing the Rural Health Initiative, Senator from Boone. As an ardent advocate for the veterans and the National Guard, Spears' bill for employing and training veterans—the first such legislation in the nation—earned her a national award from the U. S. Department of Labor and Veterans Affairs, Chairman of Military.

Senator Spears also served for many years on the Visiting Committee for the West Virginia University College of Medicine and on the State Board of Directors for the West Virginia Foundation for Independent Colleges. She recently was recognized for her contributions and support to Glenville State College when that college named their board room in her honor, Senator from Braxton.

Serving on numerous other advisory boards, councils and nonprofit organizations, she worked countless hours to improve the lives of disadvantaged women and impoverished families. Senator Spears was honored by the Governor of North Carolina with an environmental award for her work in protecting the West Virginia portion of the New River. She received awards from the Professional Educators Association and the West Virginia Association of Retired School Employees. She was named Woman of the Year by the National League of American Pen Women, and she received the Susan B. Anthony Award from the state organization of the National Organization for Women.

Although regrettably, Mr. President, Senator Spears will never again serve in the corridors or the committees of this upper chamber, this body may never know such a master of political skill and steadfast will—tempered with such charming laughter and disarming smile—yet the imprint and the memory of Senator Jae Spears will forever live on within the hearts and the lives of West Virginians for generations.

Thank you, Mr. President.

HONORABLE
CLARK S. BARNES

Thursday, March 21, 2013

SENATOR BARNES: Thank you, Mr. President, and thank you Majority Leader for the kind words for Senator Spears. You used the word “elegant” to describe Senator Spears—and she truly was an elegant lady. She made many contributions—not only the contributions of herself, but of a man she called The Colonel.

I now sit in the seat that Jae Spears sat in; and I’m honored to be representing Randolph County. She also represented much of the area that the Senator from Nicholas and I now represent in Webster and Nicholas counties.

We are proud to have had her. She was a very special lady. I will add another adjective to describe her. For those who served with her, I think you will agree. The word is colorful. She was a very colorful lady. Certainly we will miss her in Randolph County, and we will miss the influence that she had while she was living. But we will certainly continue to hear the stories, the many stories about Jae Spears.

Jae Spears, we miss you.

HONORABLE
H. TRUMAN CHAFIN

Monday, March 25, 2013

SENATOR CHAFIN: Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, I wanted to say this on Monday. Most of you probably went home back to your district this weekend. When you go home, it's very interesting to see everybody and how things are going. I guess you get a thousand questions.

The Senator from Mercer and I are fighting very hard to get $5,000 for some police cars in Welch. The mayor called me today; they need something for the fire department. We even have requests—like you all get—to keep the electricity going in Keystone, because they're behind on their electric bill. Not much money—Fort Gay needs a water line extension for people who can't get it for like 200 feet. You get those requests and I get them.

Then I watch the news. You all watch the news. We saw the United States Senate passed a $3.7 trillion budget. A million dollars is a lot of money. We're asking for $5,000 for little projects. A million is a lot.

A thousand million, Mr. President, is a billion. A thousand billion is a trillion. Those are numbers that are hard to comprehend. The next time you read about the trillion dollar budgets and deficits in Washington, think about your tax dollars.

It's a difficult number to understand. I think that we in these state legislatures are very passive about what's going on in Washington that so directly affects us all.

A billion seconds ago—just think what a billion is. I don't want to get into a trillion.

A billion seconds ago it was 1959.

A billion minutes ago Jesus was alive on the Earth.

A billion hours ago our ancestors were living in the Stone Age.

A billion days ago no one walked on the Earth, Mr. President, on two feet.

A billion dollars ago was eight hours and twenty minutes in Washington.

While this is still in your thoughts, let's take New Orleans. All of you know who Senator Mary Landrieu is from down in Louisiana. After that flood, Mr. President, she requested $250 billion to rebuild New Orleans. Well, if that passes—it probably will—484,674 residents of New Orleans including every man, woman and child will each get $516,528—if they get $250 billion. Or, if you have one of the 188,251 homes in New Orleans, you will get $1,329,787. Or, if you are a family of four, each of you will get $2,066,012.

Hello, Washington, D. C. Can you hear us? We're not very far from you, but can you hear us? Are your calculators broken? The taxes that they have put on these states and people a lot like us. When we go home, we pay it.

Building permit tax, CDL license tax, cigarette tax, corporate income tax, dog license tax, federal income tax, federal unemployment tax, FUTA tax, fishing tax, food license tax, fuel permit tax, gasoline tax, hunting license tax, inheritance tax, inventory tax, IRS tax—that's a tax on top of the tax, IRS penalty tax—another tax on top of the tax, liquor tax, luxury tax, marriage license tax, Medicaid tax, property tax, real estate tax, service charge tax, Social Security tax, road usage tax for truckers, sales tax, recreational vehicle tax, school tax, state income tax, state unemployment tax, telephone excise tax, telephone federal tax, universal science fee tax, telephone federal, state and local surcharge tax, telephone minimal usage surcharge tax, telephone recurring and nonrecurring charges, telephone state and local tax, telephone usage charge tax, utility tax, vehicle license tax, registration tax, vehicle sales tax, water craft registration tax, well permit tax, workers' comp tax.

And to think—we left the British for our own rule. Not funny, is it?

Not one of these taxes existed 100 years ago, ladies and gentlemen. Our nation was the most prosperous in the world. We had absolutely no national debt. We had the largest middle class in the world. What happened?

Still have to press “1” to get English. You know what? The longer I stay here, the longer I go back home, the more that I beg for $5,000 for a police car or something for a fire department, something for Welch—the more it bothers me.

I don’t know what our legacy is going to be when we leave here—these few years that we spend in these state legislatures—but, if all the state legislatures would stand together, we’d be a mighty switch. Right now, individually we are not much.

What’s the chance that you’re ever going to get Congress to pass term limits for themselves? You know what those chances are. The only other way you could do it is three quarters of the states would have to go together and request a constitutional amendment. If that were on the ballot, do you think it would pass? Probably would be about 99 percent that won’t, wouldn’t it?

I’m telling you. They need to come back and live here. They need to go home with me just for a weekend—or go home with you for a weekend—and look at the water line that the person up the creek doesn’t have and just reflect on some of this. What is a billion dollars? They don’t even talk about billions; they talk about trillions.

Thank you very much.

REMARKS OF
HONORABLE
MITCH CARMICHAEL

Thursday, March 28, 2013

SENATOR CARMICHAEL: Thank you, Mr. President, and thank you, ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, for allowing me a few brief remarks on an important issue facing our state.

Before I begin I want to sincerely thank each one of you for the remarkable manner in which my freshman colleagues and I have been welcomed into this wonderful assembly of public servants. I truly believe that, without regard to political affiliation, the Senate really is focused on improving our state. It really is an honor to serve with each of you.

My fellow Senators, I rise for the purpose of asking you a probing question: Would you rather have a great job or a cheap cigarette? The answer may seem obvious and somewhat even humorous, but our current state policies leave significant doubt.

Based on the fact that West Virginia has one of the lowest tobacco taxes in America and the highest tax on business machinery and equipment, any reasonable person would conclude that this state incentivizes smoking while discouraging jobs and capital investment. The truth is that current West Virginia policy is sacrificing the health of our citizens and productive jobs for a cheap cigarette. This flawed policy is inflicting damage on our citizens. This is an important issue, especially since our Legislature honored kids at risk today.

According to the federal Centers for Disease Control smoking directly causes the death of 4,000 West Virginia citizens each year. Tobacco kills more people in our state than automobile accidents, illegal drugs, murders and suicides combined. In addition to the tragic loss of life, this report reveals the incredible economic cost that our state incurs. We spend about $700 million to treat the illnesses brought on by smoking annually.

Mr. President, in terms of fundamental public health and pure economic impact, there is perhaps no issue that takes precedence over our policy decisions regarding tobacco taxation. Many on both sides of the aisle support a proven solution to tobacco abuse. The evidence is overwhelming that raising the price of tobacco products is the most effective way of deterring youth from smoking.

At the current price a $1.25 increase represents only a 20 percent increase in the price of a pack of cigarettes. On your desk I have placed the state revenue projections for this initiative. The increase in tobacco taxes will yield $140 million in revenue which can then be utilized to eliminate the job-killing personal property tax on business machinery and equipment. Virtually every economist cites this tax on business equipment as the single worst job-destroying scheme in our state.

Please note—please note this proposal is not a tax increase. It is a tax shift. I'm going to say that again: It's not a tax increase; it's a tax shift. Rather than imposing an onerous tax on machinery that creates jobs, let us shift toward a pro-growth model that incents job creation. As the gentleman from Mingo suggested in his remarks, I think it was on Monday, this society is already overtaxed. We don't need additional taxes.

My fellow Senators, by discouraging smoking, higher cigarette taxes prevent the next generation from ever getting started—saving thousands of lives and millions of dollars in health care costs. By reducing the tax on business equipment, new jobs and prosperity will be created. This concept realizes the dual benefits of promoting public health and economic prosperity. It's a win-win scenario.

Please take a look—I know the time is late and maybe this year is not the time—but as you contemplate how you structure our state tax revenues in the future, please take a look at Senate Bill No. 618 (Creating Tax Revenue Act of 2013) that develops a framework for this tax shift plan. Mr. President, with this measure we can significantly improve the health of our West Virginia citizens and energize our economy.

Thank you.

REMARKS OF
HONORABLE
DONNA J. BOLEY

Thursday, March 28, 2013

SENATOR BOLEY: Thank you, Mr. President. I need to talk about a couple issues today.

About three weeks ago, I was approached by constituents in my district—mostly Wood County. They had two concerns. One was what did I know about common core standards. The Senator from Wayne was good enough to bring someone from the State Department of Education in front of our committee, and we learned a little bit about the common core standards.

I have sort of a statement here that someone gave me. It says: The common core state standards which CCSS is short for are a set of academic standards written, promoted and supported by two private membership organizations—the National Governors Association (NGA) and the Council of Chief State School Officers (CCSSO)—as a method for conforming American students to uniform or one-size-fits-all achievement goals to make them more competitive in the global marketplace.

Federal law prohibits the nationalization of curriculum. All states were enticed to adopt the CCSS in order to receive Race to the Top grants financed by stimulus funds. The NGA and CCSSO in concert with the same corporations developing the CCSS assessments have created new textbooks, digital media and other teaching materials in line to the standards which must be purchased and adopted by local school districts in order that students may effectively compete on CCSS assessments. The Gates Foundation contributed $27 million to developing the common core state standards. The Gates Foundation—Bill Gates, Microsoft—probably will benefit from this.

One of the things I found out from the gentleman from the State Department of Education is that this Legislature had no input into the standards. On May 14, 2010, the State Board of Education adopted these policies. I don't know that anyone from West Virginia other than maybe a committee that was set up from teachers, maybe some State Department of Education people, had any input into those standards. I would like for this Legislature to take a better look at common core standards to see why we have it, who all was involved and who's going to benefit from the common core standards.

Another issue that goes right along with this—I put the article on your desk today. It says: Bill Gates' Hundred Million Dollar Database to Track Students. I'll read you a couple paragraphs:

“Over the past 18 months, a massive $100 million public-school database spearheaded by the $36.4 billion-strong Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation has been in the making that freely shares student information with private companies. The system has been in operation for several months and already contains millions of K-12 students' personal identification . . .” If you have your article, you can read “. . . ranging from name [of the student], address, Social Security number, attendance, test scores, homework completion, career goals, learning disabilities, and even hobbies and attitudes . . .”

So, I connected the two—the common core and the database—to the Gates Foundation. They have funded both of them. Some of the questions on the database I have . . . I'm asking for your help in trying to get these answers. Are West Virginia's students in this database? We know there is a database and we know that our Board of Education adopted that. Did parents give their permission for their students' privacy information to be given and put in this database? Is this a violation of FERPA (Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act)? Can students and parents opt out if they want to?

I would really appreciate your help in trying to study this information and see what's going on so I can go back to my constituents and tell them.

Thank you very much.

Creating WV Feed to Achieve Act

(Passage of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 663)

HONORABLE
JOHN R. UNGER II

Friday, March 29, 2013

SENATOR UNGER: Thank you, Mr. President. I'll be brief on this.

This came from the audit with the Select Committee on Children and Poverty. As I mentioned earlier as we went out into the communities, we saw that one of the biggest issues is that children are not necessarily getting the nutrition they need in order to prepare for school. As has been said before on this floor, we can have the best schools, have the best teachers, have the best curriculum, the most modern technology and that child sitting in the seat; but if that child is hungry, then mentally they are not there and student achievement will not occur.

Research shows that when a child, particularly from birth to eight, is nourished student achievement goes up, attendance goes up, tardiness goes down and all the other behavioral problems that lead to other issues later on go down. This bill will make sure that every child is ready to learn.

I just want to mention one other thing. On this Good Friday, Senator from Marion, the Pope, the new Pope, Pope Francis, did something extraordinary yesterday that's never been done before. Normally on Holy Thursday the Pope will wash the feet of retired priests—twelve of them in order to symbolize the twelve disciples. But this Pope did something extraordinary. This Pope went into a child detention center and washed twelve children's feet. It's never been done before.

It reminded me of all the stories we heard as we were going out into the communities. The little boy, Senator from Hampshire, with the apples. How during the time when given a bag of apples that child literally petted it—like a pet—and held onto it. Children that would take food home in order for their brothers and sisters to be able to eat. We heard over and over these types of stories.

But it reminded me on this holy Good Friday of the story of the masses of the feeding of the five thousand. We've all heard the story. Mr. President, this particular story is very unique; because it's one of the very few stories that you find in the four Gospels—all four Gospels. Even the birth of Christ story is not in all four Gospels. But this story is. It's about the magnitude of five thousand that had come and Christ said we are going to feed. They took five loaves and two fish. He blessed it and he spread the people out. The people ate and they were filled. At the end there were twelve baskets that were received. Now, the story goes—some theologians suggest—that the true miracle wasn't the fact that Christ multiplied the five loaves and the two fish. But in essence, as that basket was being passed around, people would contribute what they had into those baskets—each and every one. The entire community came together to make sure everyone there was fed.

I say to you, Mr. President, the one thing that's not mentioned in all four Gospels but only in the Gospel of John—where did the five loaves and two fish come from? In the Gospel of John, it says: Philip said to Jesus, "The [sic] hundred days' wages worth of food would not be enough for each of them to have a little bit." So, what happened is Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter, brought forward a boy who had the barley loaves and the two fish. Mr. President, that was a little boy that brought that meal.

And then, as the disciples were going back and forth arguing among themselves of who would be the greatest among them in heaven, Jesus called the children to himself and said: Let the children come to me and do not prevent them for the kingdom of God belongs to such as these. I say to you whoever does not accept the kingdom of God like a child will not enter it.

Mr. President, I urge the passage of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 663.

Requesting DOH name portion of State
Route 20 in Wyoming County
“David and Janet Lee Memorial Highway”

(Adoption of Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 18)

HONORABLE
H. TRUMAN CHAFIN

Monday, April 1, 2013

SENATOR CHAFIN: Thank you, Mr. President. Ladies and gentlemen, we are very honored today to have David and Janet Lee’s family here. All of you know his son, of course, Dale Lee who is President of WVEA here in the back of the Chamber with his brother and his family.

For those of you all who do not know David and Janet Lee, we’re going to name this little highway for them in front of their house—from the McDowell County line to about a mile down in Wyoming County past their home. They were wonderful people. You heard the resolution about how he was a teacher and coach—how she was a great lady and a cook. I had the pleasure of knowing both of them as did the Senators from Raleigh and Wyoming. Former Senator Bailey is here with them. Ladies and gentlemen, there’s just no finer people than this teacher and coach and his lovely wife.

I’ll make a couple of remarks. Ready or not, some day it’s all going to come to an end for us, too. There will be no more sunrises, no more minutes, hours or days. Your wealth, your fame, your temporal power will shrivel to irrelevance. The wins and losses that seem so important to us today will fade away quickly.

So, what will matter? How will the value of your days be measured?

What will matter is not what you bought but what you built. David and Janet Lee built a wonderful life there in Wyoming County. Not what you got but what you gave. He was a giver, a teacher, a coach. She was the same. She always gave to that community. What will matter is the acts of integrity and compassion and courage, Mr. President, that you had. They were filled with integrity, compassion and courage. They enriched so many people’s lives and they encouraged others to follow their example. What will also matter is not your competence but your character. No higher character than Dale Lee’s father, David Lee—a man of high character. What will matter is not how many people you knew, but how many people will feel a lasting loss when you are gone. I can’t tell you how many people—the other senators can tell you—how many people miss those two people there in Wyoming and McDowell counties. What will matter is not your memories but the memories of those who loved you. So many people loved both of these people. What will matter is how long you will be remembered, by whom and for what.

Ladies and gentlemen, living a life that matters does not happen by accident. Mr. President, it’s not a matter of circumstances but of choice. David and Janet Lee chose to live lives that mattered. It’s always been said that one man or one woman with character is a majority. Here we had two.

It’s my high honor to speak on behalf of David and Janet Lee and tell you personally how I sat in their home in their kitchen and how she cooked for us. What a wonderful lady and what a wonderful coach and teacher he was. So, it’s my honor, Mr. President, to speak on behalf of this resolution.

Thank you.

Memorializing life of Honorable Ursula Jae Spears
(Adoption of Senate Resolution No. 52)

REMARKS OF
HONORABLE
H. TRUMAN CHAFIN

Tuesday, April 2, 2013

SENATOR CHAFIN: Thank you, Mr. President. I just want to take a moment to speak to the resolution. Probably not many of you had the chance to serve with the Honorable Jae Spears. I think the Senator from Pleasants and I did, lawyer Tom Smith—I know he was here. I was Judiciary chair the first year she was the Finance chair.

Senator Spears, ladies and gentlemen, did not follow where the path led. She was a person who instead went where there was no path and left a trail. She was the first woman that, I think, ever served as the powerful Finance chair. She was one of those people who, once you met, left a lasting impression on you.

I've got about four things—I was looking through my book the other day—that kind of reminded me of Senator Spears.

The greatest legacy one can leave is having lived a good life. By all measures, when she died—she was 90 years old—she indeed had led a good life.

It's more blessed to give than to receive. That sort of describes her, too.

No person was ever honored for what they received; they were honored for what they gave. She was a giver. She was a tireless giver almost to everyone.

And, lastly, for one human being to love another is perhaps the hardest, most difficult of all tasks. She told me several times, Senator from Ohio in the back, that she actually loved everyone in this Senate that she served with and wished them well.

She was just that kind of great lady. She was a lady of prominence, a lady of stature. I am so honored to be here on the floor today, Jim, to say some nice words about your great mother. God bless you.

Exempting certain school mascot from prohibition of firearms possession on school grounds

(Passage of Engrossed Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 421)

REMARKS OF
HONORABLE
DAVID C. NOHE

Tuesday, April 2, 2013

SENATOR NOHE: Thank you, Mr. President. This bill creates an exemption to the law against possessing a deadly weapon on school premises for the official mascot of the Parkersburg South High School, commonly known as The Patriot, acting in his or her official capacity.

The Patriot mascot and the replica of the Revolutionary period musket have been a tradition at Parkersburg South for nearly a half century. I think it's appropriate this time, when this session has dedicated so much to bettering and enhancing the education system, to look at programs like this that bring students, parents and faculty together to participate in competitive events, in school events.

I look at the State Motto of this Great State of West Virginia, that Mountaineers are always free. I believe that this should also be The Patriot, the symbol of the Revolutionary War, the founding of America, that they should always be free in the Great State of West Virginia. With passing this bill, it will mean that this musket will never be silenced again.

I urge passage.

Recognizing Honorable Gaston Caperton

(Adoption of Senate Resolution No. 57)

REMARKS OF
HONORABLE
ROMAN W. PREZIOSO, JR.

Thursday, April 4, 2013

SENATOR PREZIOSO: Thank you, Mr. President. Ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, it's our distinct pleasure today to have former Governor Gaston Caperton in our chamber. There are many stories that I'm sure most of us can tell about the Governor. He arose from a virtual unknown in the early nineties to become one of West Virginia's most famous and outstanding governors.

I had the privilege that year, 1989-90, when Governor Caperton came into office after he was first elected. Believe me, those eight years were probably the most progressive, unusual years that I could ever remember. As for most of you who could remember, the Senator from Mingo, maybe the Senator from Pleasants and our Clerk, the state was virtually bankrupt.

Governor Caperton, a young businessman, came into office and put forth many ideas that we live by today—our governmental structure and cabinet structure that we have. He was truly a visionary. He had the ability to know how important our education system was and, today, we consider him our “Education Governor”. He had the foresight to put the basic skills education program, a computer in every school. He led us into the technology age. He developed the School Building Authority.

Our financial stability back then was pretty tough as you can remember. We couldn't even pay our bills; but due to Gaston Caperton, we now have sound financial stability. Many of the programs that he put in place are now the ones that we lead by: The Rainy Day Fund, he shored up our pension fund, our Investment Management Board, led us into government reform, our ethics laws and things of that sort that make West Virginia one of the most sound fiscal states in the Union.

The Hi-Y Youth Leadership is proud to have him as our Man of the Year and he'll always be my Man of the Year.

Thank you, Governor, for all you did and all you continue to do for the State of West Virginia.

Thank you, Mr. President.

Recognizing Honorable Gaston Caperton

(Adoption of Senate Resolution No. 57)

REMARKS OF
HONORABLE
ROBERT H. PLYMALE

Thursday, April 4, 2013

SENATOR PLYMALE: Thank you, Mr. President. You know, as a business person, the first time I really spent any extensive time with Governor Caperton was when we took a business mission to Japan. That's the time when we named Nagoya as the headquarters which was unheard of—every place had had Tokyo as their headquarters. It was a bold move, but I knew that it was a good move when we met Mr. Toyota. Smart move. Smart move, Governor.

But, you know, I was here during the critical financial crisis right after the ones the Senator from Marion was talking about and I saw the changes that were made in education, but particularly in the pensions. As Pensions chair for a number of years, I know your leadership will always be remembered for education, for financial stability and for pension reform and, actually, for paying our pensions which was a novel idea.

I appreciated and I've always recognized you as a dear friend.

Recognizing Honorable Gaston Caperton

(Adoption of Senate Resolution No. 57)

REMARKS OF
HONORABLE
LARRY J. EDGELL

Thursday, April 4, 2013

SENATOR EDGELL: Very briefly, Mr. President and the body. I was one of the teachers in those days. My wife and I were teachers that probably would have not stayed in the profession, because we were borrowing money to pay our doctor and pay our hospital bills.

After Governor Caperton came into office we started seeing improvement, I mean, it changed our whole life; because of the things the Governor granted to the teachers in those days. I am forever appreciative of him.

Thank you, Governor.

Improving boat dock and marina safety

(Passage of Engrossed Committee Substitute for House Bill No. 3020)

REMARKS OF
HONORABLE
SAMUEL J. CANN

Saturday, April 13, 2013

SENATOR CANN: Thank you, Mr. President. I rise just for a moment to speak to why we are doing this bill today. Back in 2010, on Memorial Day, a young man by the name of Michael Cunningham—who was a sophomore at Bridgeport High School, a good student, good athlete, friend to many, good son to his parents Kevin and Amy—tragically passed away when he dove into the waters at Stonewall Lake off a dock and because of a problem with the wiring around the dock in the water.

You know, up until today actually, we do not have any laws that address this issue in our state code—no statement of the need to look out for it, we need to make sure it doesn't happen again. Clearly there is a need to better regulate boat docks and marina safety and require better trained electricians to wire and inspect these types of facilities. That is what has precipitated this legislation. As we go forward, we may need to do more but first let it evolve to make sure we protect the many, many people who swim and use our beautiful lakes and rivers around the State of West Virginia.

I also want to make clear—because there has been a lot of publicity around this in recent days blaming this body for killing this bill. I want to say something about my good friend from Fayette, Senator Laird. When he received this late on Thursday last week, he didn't have a chance to look at it, I think, til Friday or Monday of this week. The Senator from Braxton, Senator Facemire, was involved; he was aware of it and both of them were made aware of the problems with the bill. There were some issues with the bill.

Though I believe the bill was done with the very best of intent, with the very best of hopes to get good legislation through here; but as it was studied, as staff looked at the bill, the bill spoke about things such as Boat and Yacht Council laws that our electricians needed to be familiar with or certified by those people. Upon searching, staff found no such people in the State of West Virginia. They could not find what those standards and terms meant or what they would create.

On the day the bill came before the committee, the committee members thought everybody was ok with taking this issue and studying it through interims and making sure that we get it right. During that time Kevin and Amy Cunningham, Michael's parents, were there to testify. As Mr. Cunningham did so, he mentioned a law in Arkansas he thought might work.

Once they left, we began to discuss this issue among members of the committee. When it was brought to my attention, I met with Senator Laird and his counsel, and his counsel did some research and found the Arkansas law. This is built on that. There were several members of the Judiciary committee that helped perfect it into its current form.

I think that these folks—everybody who was involved who tried to take this bill and make it right not only for Michael and his family so that we have something to commemorate what happened; but we also have a piece of legislation that we could utilize and regulators can understand what it means, our electricians know what it means and our boat dock owners know what it means and know what we have to do from this point forward. So, that's why I rise in favor of this. I wanted people to know it.

I want to end with a little bit of the preamble that's in the bill itself, which is very unusual. We don't do this very often. I think it's fitting on this occasion.

The Preamble will read: This legislation shall be known as the "Michael Cunningham Act".

Whereas, West Virginia is known for its beautiful and abundant waterways, lakes and rivers, which provide a draw for tourism and a booster for our economy; and

Whereas, Our waterways, lakes and rivers should be a safe place for our children and families to enjoy; and

Whereas, There have been cases recently where children have died because the water where they were swimming was electrified by the ungrounded and improper connection of electricity to boat docks and marinas; and

Whereas, Electricity and water create a deadly combination that can paralyze a swimmer which can result in that swimmer drowning; and

Whereas, Our children who are swimming are particularly vulnerable to electrocution and shock in the water; and

Whereas, Bringing boat docks and marinas up to the National Fire Protection

Association and Electric Code Standards is necessary for the protection and safety of all those who enjoy our waterways, lakes and rivers for recreation and to protect our children and our tourism.

Folks, I urge 100 percent passage on this bill.

Continuing Municipal Home Rule Pilot Program

*(Adoption of Committee of Conference
Report for Engrossed Committee
Substitute for Senate Bill No. 435)*

HONORABLE
BROOKS F. MCCABE, JR.

Saturday, April 13, 2013

SENATOR MCCABE: Mr. President, I'm very respectful of the committee of conference process and the participation of our conferees. I truly appreciate the work that they have done, but I have a number of concerns that I think need to be brought to the attention of the full Senate.

I might point out that today is opening day for Little League baseball. Come Memorial Day, we will have the opening of all the swimming pools. This bill, in many ways, is about guns in parks and pools. This bill allows individuals to carry weapons into ballparks and pool facilities owned by municipalities.

If I was to summarize the discussions today—not the bill itself—but the discussions today on Engrossed Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 435, it's about looking at the issues that relate to pro-gun and anti-gun agendas. The discussions today have very little to do with the economic and community development of municipalities. It has very little to do with what we need to cause to happen to have our cities grow. The discussions today really did not focus on how we can help cities help themselves. The discussion today was largely on guns and gays and to that I take offense. Our cities are crying out for assistance and we divert our attention to these hot-button issues.

I think we have been manhandled by special interests. To be blunt: We are pandering to special interests to the detriment of our cities. We have to pay attention to the viability of our cities. Home rule is about an attempt of the cities to help themselves. The discussion today was not about the cities helping themselves. It was about guns and marriages and divorces, i.e., gays. These are special interests trying to take a vehicle that is desperately needed and use that as a platform to expand their own agenda. I take offense to that.

I have talked to the mayor from the City of Charleston, members of City Council. I am aware of the police chief's position and the sheriff of my county's position. I have talked to several of the CEOs of the hospitals in my city. They are not in favor of these types of additions to this legislation.

I am particularly talking about the regulations we are imposing in relationship to guns. I am told we are all out to protect our Second Amendment rights. My question to the Senate is: Where does the Second Amendment say that municipalities cannot provide for the safety of their children in municipal parks and community swimming pools? That's what this bill imposes on municipalities and cities, some of which already have legislation dealing with this matter. These proposed changes negate those ordinances that are in place. That's not about Second Amendment rights; that has nothing to do with Second Amendment rights. But that is the argument. We are being told to impose these types of constraints on municipalities.

I think this is unfortunate. This isn't about economic development; it's not about community development. Again, we are being co-opted by special interest groups to implant their agenda on guns and gay rights into what, I think, is a very important piece of legislation in municipal home rule.

Rome is burning. Our cities are in trouble. Yet, we are fiddling away with guns and marriage issues. We need a laser focus on economic and community development issues—not creating an expanded platform for hot-button social issues. We are being co-opted whether we realize it or not.

Are we really doing the best that we can to help our cities by putting these limitations in this bill? I am not challenging anyone's intentions. I'm just saying that we are superimposing special interests into legislation that is vitally important. We've got 19 restrictions in this bill, and this bill is supposedly designed to give local control to our communities. Yet, we are imposing 19 things that we don't want them getting near—some of which I think are important. I'm not challenging everything that is in these 19 restrictions. I'm just saying we are cautious to excess.

We want our cities to succeed, but the question I have for the ladies and gentlemen here is: Do we have the will to let them try in earnest to solve their problems? Or, are we going to take every chance we can find to let special interests superimpose their agenda on our cities? I think that's what we're doing. I'm not pleased with it. I think we have to proceed with home rule. It is a chance for our cities to do better. But we are taking a good piece of legislation and letting ourselves as a Legislature, in my opinion, be unfairly and inappropriately manipulated in a way that is not in the best interests of our cities.

We have much to do. The cities are trying hard to become economically viable. They are threatened, whether you realize it or not—and I know most of you do. But, if we really truly understand how threatened they are, why are we allowing this kind of other agenda interfere with what, I think, is one of the more important economic development pieces of legislation that we have brought forward this year?

Let me read to you what is in this bill—just this one small piece of it “. . . municipalities participating in the Municipal Home Rule Pilot Program, pursuant to this section, shall not restrict in any manner the right of any person to purchase, possess, transfer, own, carry, transport, sell or store any revolver, pistol, rifle or shotgun, or any other firearm, or any ammunition or ammunition components to be used therewith, or the keeping of gunpowder so as to directly or indirectly prohibit the ownership of the ammunition, or, to restrict in any manner the right of any person to purchase, possess, transfer, own, carry, transport, sell or store any other firearm accessory or accouterment, under any order, ordinance or rule promulgated or enforced by the municipality.”

That's what we're telling our municipalities. Several of them have ordinances that this directly contradicts and negates. We're talking home rule; we're talking about giving our municipalities more ability to solve their problems. At the same time, we giveth and we taketh. What we are saying is: We are sorry. We are not going to allow you to protect our children at a swimming pool or at a ballpark, because we feel that we have to follow special interests that, for some reason, are more important to us than the children that our city councils and mayors are trying to protect in the cities.

Is this good policy? I think not.

Thank you, Mr. President.

REMARKS OF
HONORABLE
COREY PALUMBO

Saturday, April 13, 2013

SENATOR PALUMBO: Thank you, Mr. President. I rise to support Engrossed Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 435 but reluctantly.

This bill, as my colleague mentioned, now contains 19 restrictions on what municipalities can do. The current version of home rule legislation contains five. Cities in the current program can't violate the constitutions of the United States, West Virginia, federal law or criminal laws and pension laws. That's it. Other than that, they can impose their own will as they see fit. This version of home rule adds 14 other categories.

Make no mistake about this bill. This bill is home rule lite. This is: We trust you municipalities, but we don't trust you very much. We don't trust you very much at all.

I'm going to still support this bill, because home rule lite is better than no home rule at all . . . but just barely.

REMARKS OF
HONORABLE
ERIK P. WELLS

Saturday, April 13, 2013

SENATOR WELLS: Thank you very much, Mr. President. As my colleague from Kanawha, the Junior Senator from the Seventeenth, I'm also going to rise in support of Engrossed Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 435. I want to be clear for not just the members in this body—but for people who are listening and people who will read this—where Erik Wells as an individual stands when it comes to a person's ability to have a firearm on them in a concealed manner.

This is my concealed weapon permit. I support the right of West Virginians to have a concealed weapon. This is mine. I strongly support the Second Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. This is my other card I carry in my wallet that nobody else in this chamber has. This card says I don't just support the Second Amendment to the Constitution, but I support every amendment to the Constitution. This card [Military Identification Card] says I am willing to give every devotion of my life, every drop of my blood to defend the Constitution of the United States.

I do get offended, as the Senior Senator from the Seventeenth said so eloquently: What are we doing? You know, I hear from my Republican colleagues about how we're doing so poorly in the economy. West Virginia needs to get going again. Some may even say West Virginia just needs to get going.

Here we have an opportunity to do something. What do we do with it? We put in wedge issues because people are more concerned—not about the next generation—but are more concerned about the next election.

Who gives special interests their power? We do. We give them the ability to influence us and for some folks, to scare us. I have voted for the NRA issues; I have voted against the NRA issues. And I am going to continue to do that. I'm going to vote for what I think is in the best interest of my district and my state.

I wonder. Every session I come with renewed hope and inspiration that we'll do the right thing. Usually there's one or two issues where, come the end of the day, I think we will have missed the mark on. This is one of them.

Home rule is important. The Second Amendment is important. The First Amendment is important. The Fourth Amendment is important. What we do here is important.

I often wonder why West Virginia doesn't move forward as much as I think we should. You'll have some people who will say, we need to change our tax system. No, we need to deal with tort reform. No, we need to deal with education. Oftentimes, it's just a matter of we need to have more leadership. We do really need to be concerned about the next generation and not the next election.

Second Amendment? Absolutely, I'm there. The whole Constitution? In my last breath, I'm there.

We just need to be better leaders.

HONORABLE
MIKE HALL

Saturday, April 13, 2013

SENATOR M. HALL: I just want to take a minute. We vote for these bridge resolutions and usually I do not know who the folks are; but they are certainly precious to their families and whomever knew them. One of them was for Larry Border.

Larry was a delegate when I began my service in the House in 1995. Larry was a dear soul. He loved this process. As we'd get to the last day or two of a session and things would kind of get confused I remember—I will never forget—watching Larry get that glimmer in his eye and he'd say, "Well, there's a train wreck." I haven't heard that remark this session. He just loved this process.

Of course, his wife Anna, his widow, is now serving in the House and she's remarried.

I just didn't want the moment to pass to acknowledge the sadness that I felt when he passed on. It was sudden; it was unexpected. He had a heart attack.

I remember when I was the Minority Whip in the House—it's one thing I will always remember about Larry—obviously, we don't do much of this in the Senate, but in the House we were notorious for trying to count votes. Trying to find out, you know, who was doing what. Obviously, the Speaker would sometimes want to know how many Republican votes we had so he could let his people go on some sort of controversial vote. I would go to Larry and, I will never forget, the answer was always the same: Undecided. I finally told Larry, I said: Brother, when you pass on, we're going to put that on your tombstone. I think it was decided in his favor.

He was a good Christian brother. I just didn't want the moment to pass without acknowledging what we've done tonight. As a proxy for his family, I'm thanking you, the Senate, for adopting this resolution tonight.

I appreciate the time to express these comments and remarks about Larry.

Thank you very much.

HONORABLE
CLARK S. BARNES

Saturday, April 13, 2013

SENATOR BARNES: Thank you, Mr. President. I rise this evening first of all to say thank you to my fellow colleagues here in the Senate—out of some frustration, though. I think it's appropriate here in the last few minutes to maybe express the frustration that I have and that maybe some share.

What I want to say thank you for is, as you remember, I had a project. I had a bill that involved Pendleton County, one of the counties that I represent—one of the smallest counties in the state. As you recall, we had a project over there that involved a golf community with a thousand homesites. What we had attempted to do was allow an investor—a company that was associated with well-known figure Lee Iacocca—who was willing to bring $60 million to this county and invest it here in West Virginia. What they had asked for was a small rural casino to jump-start this housing and golf community project.

Mr. President, as I recall—and I could be wrong about this—but as I have reviewed the bills, the thousands—over 2,000 bills which have been introduced in these last two months—I only found two bills that I felt were job creation bills. Two bills! This was one of them. Unfortunately, our system, although it works well most of the time, this did not occur.

I want to thank my colleagues here in the Senate, because you passed it—and you passed it quickly. I want to thank the Chairman of Judiciary for running it although his personal convictions were not necessarily to allow the expansion of gaming. I want to thank the Chairman of Finance for running the bill. He's a man of his word—and he had never voted for a gaming bill. I appreciate what those gentlemen did, and I appreciate what you did.

But, you know, it's a shame when tonight we are also held hostage by the House of Delegates and the leadership thereof on a bill in Monongalia County which could create maybe 1,500 or 2,000 jobs—a TIF bill. That was the other job creation bill. We have dealt in this house and we have dealt in this Legislature with menial things. You know what I am talking about. I don't have to identify what they are. We've changed the language here; we've done a little bit here. And we've done some important things.

But, you know what: To the people of Monongalia County and to the people of Pendleton County—the people that we represent, the people that we were sent here to represent—those people are disappointed tonight.

We could have taken a county like Pendleton County who was a dependent county to the school system. It was a dependent county who in that school system for years we've been sending extra money—thanks to our Chairman of Education—to help them make it on their own. If this bill would have passed, we would have had the opportunity to transform Pendleton County. It would have been so great ten years from now to drive through Pendleton County and not see a county which was dependent but to see a county that was contributing, contributing to the revenue and the income. People wouldn't have to be driving over across the state lines anymore for jobs. A thousand homesites! It wasn't about gaming, folks; it was about economic development—true economic development!

But the system worked against us. The big boys decided they didn't want it. The big boys of gaming and a few people who lobby in this building were able to constrict and to keep the people of Pendleton County from having the opportunity that they needed to have. Folks, I can't say what's holding up the TIF bill over on the other side. But I want to tell you this evening, of all the things that we could have done positive in this body and in this Legislature this year, we could have created a few jobs—but the opportunity is passed. We have seven minutes. And what will we do with those seven minutes? Well, let's find out.

Thank you.
