CHAPTER 3. ELECTIONS.

ARTICLE 8. REGULATION AND CONTROL OF ELECTIONS.

§3-8-12a. Social Media Integrity and Anti-Corruption in Elections Act; approval of election information by state's Chief Elections Official; uniform dissemination of election content; prohibition on untraceable messaging originated by social media platforms; record maintenance; prohibition of monetization of election content; prohibition of modifying visibility of election information based on type of content; due process requirements for restriction of access to social media platforms; civil penalties.

(a) This section may be cited as the “Social Media Integrity and Anti-Corruption in Elections Act”.

(b) (1) The Legislature finds that the State of West Virginia has a compelling interest in ensuring transparency in financial expenditures and other speech which advocates for the election or defeat of candidates or political parties to prevent corruption or the appearance of corruption in elections.

(2) The Secretary of State is the Chief Elections Officer of the State of West Virginia, and is, along with the State Election Commission, concurrently responsible for overseeing the regulation of certain election speech, campaign finances, and other election-related activities in the State of West Virginia. Such regulation has not taken into full consideration the availability of online forums and social media platforms where West Virginia citizens and voters increasingly seek, discuss, receive, and exchange election-related ideas, issues, and news, and get information about candidates that appear on the ballot and organizations, political parties, and other election-specific matters. Similarly, online forums and social media platforms reportedly have hundreds of millions of users from around the world, which has resulted in significant monetization of user-specific content preferences which can include users’ desires, policy positions, political leanings, and affiliations. Social media platforms also have access to other election content which has been and can be used for significant advertising value.

(3) To protect the integrity of elections held in West Virginia, the Legislature further finds it compellingly important in the interest of the state, its citizens, and voters, to prevent the potential for corruption, widespread intentional or accidental misinformation, disinformation, and unequal treatment generated by social media platforms or providers themselves.

(4) Therefore, because the Constitution of West Virginia places the authority to oversee, administer, and regulate West Virginia elections to the Secretary of State and associated government agencies such as the State Election Commission, public elections are funded and run by the government and its agents. This act is designed to keep the integrity of elections held within West Virginia free from actual and perceived manipulation and corruption.

(5) To that end, as detailed in this section, social media platforms desiring to disseminate election-related information in West Virginia must ensure:

(A) The accuracy of all election-related information that it disseminates;

(B) The equal opportunity of use of its platform to all candidates and political parties that appear on West Virginia ballots;

(C) Any attempt or action to censor or promote any candidate, party, or political party based on election-related content shall not be conducted without prior written notice and due process to the impacted person, political party, or organization, and the express approval of the Chief Elections Officer; and

(D) Compliance with the State’s campaign finance laws when the platform’s actions bestow value for one candidate or political party over that of another candidate or political party.

(c) For purposes of this section, the following definitions shall apply:
(1) “Algorithm” means a set of instructions or rules designed to perform a specific task;

(2) “Chief Elections Officer” means the West Virginia Secretary of State;

(4) “Disparate treatment” means an ostensibly facially neutral policy has an intentional disproportionate adverse outcome.

(5) “Election Content” includes, but is not limited to, data comprising posts, comments, messages, or images, and hyperlinks created or promoted by a social media platform without user engagement, to any of the foregoing where the data conveys information to a social media platform user about candidates or parties associated with a federal or statewide primary, general, or special election;

(6) “Issue advocacy organization” means an organization devoted to political activity which does not attempt to persuade the public of particular electoral outcomes, but rather seeks to highlight broader political or social issues.

(7) “Party” means a party, committee, association, fund, or other organization, regardless of incorporation, organized and operated primarily for the purpose of directly or indirectly influencing the selection, nomination, election, or appointment of an individual to a federal, state, or local public office;

(8) “Political Party” shall have the meaning prescribed in §3-1-8 the code.

(9) “Social media platform” means a user-specific, web-based technology intended to create virtual connection through the internet, which includes any online information service provider, internet search engine, access software provider, internet website, or application that enables users within the state to create, publish, and view content online for no cost to the user;

(10) “Untraceable messaging” means the transmission of digital content created or promoted by the social media platform which is not retrievable or re-viewable by users, researchers, or any other person or entity, after the message has been first viewed;

d) A social media platform shall not publish, promote, or otherwise disseminate election content in the form of information put out by the social media platform itself, or, by an associated or affiliated entity, to a user, without first receiving prior express approval by the Secretary of State under the process set forth in subsection (e) of this section, which election content includes, but is not limited to, the following:

f) Social media platforms shall

(1) disseminate election content uniformly to each user without regard to geography or user demographics, including data associated with the user’s online activity, information gathered or received by the social media platform from any source, or users’ perceived political preferences or party affiliation whether known, assumed, or predicted by an algorithm or other manner. This includes maintaining equity in push notifications, including news items, articles, and opinion pieces which involve a candidate, issue advocacy organization, a party, a political party, or a topic at issue, in an election as well as any indicia of support or opposition to any ballot initiative, a candidate, issue advocacy organization, a party, or a political party to its users. If such equity and

(3) maintain records of all election content for no less than 10 years following the date of dissemination. All records of election content shall be maintained in a publicly accessible database, which shall be made available either online without request, or upon request to any

This prohibition does not apply to non-election content.

(3) use any algorithm or manual determination to modify the visibility or availability of election content to any user based on any factor except that the user’s physical residence is located in the state of West Virginia. This prohibition does not apply to paid election advertisements or content created which is regulated and publicly disclosed according to §3-8-1 et seq. of this code; and

(4) enact any policy which has a disparate impact, or which results in disparate treatment of persons based upon political opinion, except for a violation of one of the provisions of subsection (j) of this section.
