5	friendly environment must include factors to promote positive social and personal development.
6	(b) As our economy continues to experience change and is restructured from being
7	primarily energy based, our population will also shift. This shift will create a need for additional
8	services, most importantly in the housing and housing development sector. As the state
9	encourages business activity and creates a more balanced economic base the state must be
10	mindful of the need of the workers who are gainfully employed in this state and who are necessary
11	to accomplish the purposes of both entities that are presently doing business here and potential
12	businesses considering this state for future business activity and commerce.
13	(c) The constraints on obtaining funding for housing construction potentially creates a
14	hinderance to continued economic development as businesses consider West Virginia as an 15	option. Workers who may locate here as businesses move here have an expectation of their
16	quality of life. Fulfilling this expectation is a necessary component of the state's economic
