Com. Sub. for H. C. R. 12- "Requesting the Division of Natural Resources to designate the Cheat Mountain Salamander as the State symbol of environmental stewardship.

Whereas, The 4th Grade Extended Studies students of Jennings Randolph Elementary School have completed an extensive study of the various West Virginia state symbols. These symbols were used by the students to learn about the history, culture, geography, and ecology of West Virginia which led them to discover that no state, including West Virginia, has a symbol of environmental stewardship. This led to many discussions among the students and resulted in them deciding that West Virginia should have a symbol of environmental stewardship; and

Whereas, From their research, the students learned about the Cheat Mountain salamander (Plethodon netting), a species of small, woodland salamander found only on Cheat Mountain and a few nearby mountains in the eastern highlands of West Virginia. They also learned that the Cheat Mountain salamander has decreased in population due to the destruction of its original red spruce forest habitat that, in the highest elevations, once covered the mountain tops in portions of Grant, Tucker, Randolph, Pendleton, Pocahontas, Greenbrier, Nicholas, and Webster Counties. Other factors such as pollution, drought, forest storm damage, and competition with other salamanders, especially its relative, the red-backed salamander, have also led to the Cheat Mountain salamander population reduction; and

Whereas, The 4th Grade Extended Studies students believe the story of the Cheat Mountain salamander speaks volumes about the state's rich history in practicing environmental stewardship and can help teach how important conservation is in designated areas; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Legislature of West Virginia:

That the Division of Natural Resources is requested to designate the Cheat Mountain salamander as the state symbol of environmental stewardship; and be it

Further Resolved, That the Clerk of the House of Delegates forward a certified copy of this resolution to the 4th Grade Extended Studies students and teachers of Jennings Randolph Elementary School."

Whereas, The January 3, 2012, Efficiency Audit of West Virginia's Primary and Secondary Education System conducted by Public Works, LLC, included eighty-two recommendations intended to help the state achieve two goals: (1) Producing the best possible outcomes for its students; and (2) Receiving the highest return on the educational dollars it spends; and

Whereas, A representative from Public Works, LLC, who was invited to present a status report on the implementation of these recommendations to the Joint Standing Education Committee during the 2015 interim meetings, reported many areas in which action on implementation was completed through a combination of legislative and executive action, areas in which there was progress toward implementation, areas in which there was not total agreement with that recommendation, and other recommendations remaining in which implementation required Code change/legislative action; and

Whereas, The recommendations remaining which require Code change/legislative action include recommendations intended help the state achieve goals for both producing the best outcomes for students and/or receiving the highest return for dollars spent; therefore, be it;

Resolved by the Legislature of West Virginia:

Whereas, Some taxpayers choose options other than the public schools for the education of their children as they may do through lawful process and bear the additional expense; and

Whereas, Such a choice does not diminish the rights of these children to a thorough and efficient education and they may receive services or be enrolled from time to time in some academic courses offered by the public schools; and

Whereas, The extracurricular activities that are available to students as a part of the public schools may require certain conditions to be met as a precedent to participation but, absent a compelling state interest, these conditions should not be such as to exclude an entire class or classes of children otherwise entitled to the full benefits of a thorough and efficient education from participating if they choose to do so.

Whereas, Section one, article XII of the Constitution of the State of West Virginia imposes a duty upon the Legislature, as a separate but equal branch of government, to provide, by general law, for a thorough and efficient system of free schools; and

Whereas, Section two, article XII of the Constitution of the State of West Virginia vests the general supervision of the free schools with the West Virginia board of education; and

Whereas, Section two, article XII of the Constitution of the State of West Virginia requires the Legislature to prescribe by law the duties of the state board in the general supervision of free public schools; and
